Waiting for the fun

WHILE WORKMEN completed the finishing touches on Canton's Jaycee Fair Tuesday (above) Bill Rentz 3, and his brother Kirk, 7, cast a longing look at the merry-go-round. The job complete, the fair opened Tuesday evening and will run through this Saturday at Ford and Lilley Roads. The fair features games, booths, 16 major kiddie rides, food and beverage, and a dunk tank for Canton officials. Hours are noon to 6 p.m. today, which is kiddies day. Friday the fair opens at 4 p.m. and closes at midnight, and on Saturday the festivities begin at noon and close at midnight. (Staff photos by Maurie Walker)

Water 'trickles' for Cantonites

Sunny days and temperatures into the 90s are causing some problems for some Canton residents who find they don't have enough water pressure to flush the toilet.

Canton officials are asking residents to voluntarily control the use of water and stagger the watering of lawns to ease a "temporary" water pressure problem that hit the township Saturday, July 26.

On Tuesday, water pressure coming into Canton from Detroit Water Department lines at two of three locations was hitting only 31 pounds, according to Canton DPW Supt. Jake Dingley. Dingley explained that at least 45 pounds of pressure is needed to flush a toilet.

He said the problem of pressure is most severe between the hours of 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. and he joined with Supervisor Robert Greenstein in requesting residents to go to an alternate day watering schedule for their lawns to help ease the problem.

Greenstein is asking residents with odd numbered houses to water on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and for even numbered homes to water on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

"The problem is only temporary," Greenstein said "and it shouldn't last for more than a week or so." The supervisor also asked that residents do their watering "after the sun goes down." He said this would help with the water pressure problem and added "It's better for the grass."

Dingley said the problem began on Saturday and reached its worst point some time on Monday.

If the problem worsens, Greenstein said, or the voluntary watering program does not work, he will ask the township board to adopt emergency measures, prohibiting residents from watering their lawns between the hours of 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. on any day.

"I'm hopeful that the situation will not last long and that with cooperation from resident we can keep the current problem from getting worse," Greenstein said

Meeting date in error

Volunteers seeking a millage election for a new fire station in Canton Township will not be meeting Aug. 13.

An article in the July 28 edition said interested citizens would meet to discuss the fire millage question at Canton High School. The article also said the petition drive on the issue was being organized by Windsor Park Civic Association President Betty Hamann and Bruce Young. The petition drive is actually being carried out by several homeowner's associations within the township.

Young is currently forming a separate committee to represent those residents who are not necessarily represented by other civic or homeowner associations in making their needs known to the board of trustees.

Young's group will meet on Aug. 13 in Canton High School.

Townships meet to map concerns

Members of the Canton and Plymouth townships planning commissions are putting their heads together to study cooperative planning moves.

The two organizations met Tuesday night to kick off intergovernmental cooperation at the planning level and begin discussing problems both communities face.

"We both realize we share a lot of concerns and there are a lot of areas we can work together on," said James Griffith, chairman of the Plymouth Township Planning Commission. "You may have just lived through an experience we went through six months ago. We should learn from one another's mistakes and victories."

Tuesday's meeting was prompted by a Canton Township public hearing at which numerous Plymouth Township residents voiced dissatisfaction at a proposed rezoning of a parcel near Joy Road.

"We're interested in our common boundaries," said Gus Matzo, chairman of Canton's Planning Commission.

Although no concrete action was taken, planning commission members discussed some problems which face their communities, such as berms, signs and zoning along I-275, and promised an exchange of planning proposals.

Canton officials promised copies of the township's new master land use plan, when completed, to Plymouth Township officials. The two groups will meet again in September or October, so Plymouth Township can offer input into Canton's new plan.

Officials outlined the need to educate planning commission members. The two groups may book speakers and obtain films on planning matters for the benefit of the Canton and Plymouth Township groups.

Although no regular meeting date was set, planning commission members agreed to meet when matters of mutual concern arise.

"I think it makes sense to know what's happening on the other side of the border, so someone doesn't build a subdivision next to an industrial park," said Griffith.

"I think it's obvious we have a lot of common concerns. Once we get a little more idea of what we've got, the future meetings will be a bit more specific."

Student overpass delayed

School will be open for close to two months this fall before students at Bird Elementary and West Middle School will be able to have a safe crossing over Ann Arbor Trail and Sheldon Road.

Plymouth school board members learned this week that construction of a pedestrian overpass at the intersection will not be completed by the Aug. 15 deadline, because of delays in supplying aluminum to the district's contractor, Spartan Sign Co.

The board agreed to revise the contract deadline to Oct. 25 without penalty because of the materials delay.

According to engineer Jack Hiltz, the contractor has not been able to get the necessary material to build the overpass which will take students safely across both Ann Arbor Trail and Sheldon.

The contractor expects delivery of the materials around Sept. 2 and estimates six weeks to build the structure.

Actual on-site work to place the bridge at the intersection will take only two days.

The contract had originally called for a completion of Aug. 15, allowing several weeks before school begins to complete the job. A penalty of $100 per day was written into the contract in the event the deadline date was not met.

But school officials have waived the penalties until the new deadline, because the board felt the delays were not caused by the contractor. The $80,384 price tag on the overpass is covered by the 0.4 mill safety millage which voters approved for the 1974-75 school year.

Official collides with patrol car

The automobile of a Plymouth Township official collided with a Wayne County Sheriff's Department patrol car Tuesday night, as the official was headed toward a public meeting.

A 1974 Ford, driven by Doris Ritchie, secretary of the Plymouth Township Planning Commission, collided with the sheriff's patrol car, driven by Deputy Dan Kerber, 26, as Mrs. Ritchie prepared to make a left turn from Canton Center's southbound lane onto Cherry Hill.

Sheriff Deputy William Messenger, 32, passenger in the patrol car, was taken to Wayne County General Hospital for a neck injury and later released.

Mrs. Ritchie, 46, of 46107 Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth Township, was headed toward a joint meeting between Canton and Plymouth Township planning commission members at the Canton firehall.

'Plymouth Life' begins Aug. 4

Life in Plymouth will be the focus of a new, full page of local news to be launched with the issue of Monday, Aug. 4 by the Plymouth Observer & Eccentric.

The page will be located conveniently at the front of the newspaper's second section and will bring expanded coverage to this community in each Monday edition.

Family stories, reports of social activities and more news on cultural events are planned for the new page.

which will feature writing by Ellie Graham, longtime Plymouth resident and O & E staff member.

In addition, a second page in the Monday paper will include news and features of special interest to women. "m.m. memos," Margaret Miller's family life column, will be a regular on this page.

Watch for "Plymouth Life," beginning Monday, Aug. 4 in the Plymouth Observer & Eccentric.

Shoppers take to streets

Plymouth Sidewalk Sale, that annual bargain hunters' dream, will be tomorrow and Saturday (Aug. 1 and 2).

George Washington birthday sales can't compete with the low prices of the regular quality merchandise that is marked down for the two-day sale.

Veteran sidewalk sale shoppers check out the dates before arranging their vacations. This is a time to outfit the family for school, stock up on birthday presents, and do some early Christmas shopping.

A carnival air pervades the city as shoppers look over racks and bins of bargain items.

Merchants on Main Street, Ann Arbor Trail, Penniman Avenue, Forest, and in the Plymouth Square Shopping Center on Ann Arbor Road at Sheldon are cooperating in the savings spree.

Some prices are marked down as much as 75 per cent. There will be $6.50 ties for 50 cents, $26.95 cultivators for $9.95, and $90 men's sports coats for less than $20.

Young shoppers will find bargains to suit their allowances- toys for 10 cents and clothing 50 to 75 per cent less than the regular price.

Snack food will be available around town. If you haven't tried the Mayflower Hotel's scrod, now is your chance. Scrod, chips and cole slaw will be available at the sidewalk cafe for just $2.50. Out at Plymouth Square a Coney Island, cole slaw and a beverage will cost just 99 cents.

Don't forget to check out Sandy's Boutique, Pease Paint and Elliot's Saddlery on Main Street, and Saxton's on Ann Arbor Trail. They may not be in the thick of things, but they are sidewalk sale-ing too.

THE ANNUAL SIDEWALK sale, sponsored by Plymouth merchants, will be Friday and Saturday, Aug. 1 and 2. (Staff photo)

Cleanup sentences urged

By DARLENE STINSON

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners hopes to give vandals a taste of their own destruction.

Board members last week approved a resolution, introduced by Commissioner John J. Korney (D-Detroit), urging judges to sentence vandals convicted of destruction at Edward S. Hines and other county parks to clean up the parks.

But a local commissioner and a district judge doubt vandals will ever be required to clean up parks.

"I'd be all for it," said 21st District Court Judge Richard Hammer, whose jurisdiction is limited to Garden City. "But the feasibility bothers me."

"Judges are not permitted under present Michigan law to sentence someone to labor. How are you going to force anyone to work? You have to have volunteers and a supervisor."

Wayne County Commissioner Mary Dumas (R-Livonia) voiced similar doubts.

"Until the administration details are worked out, it's just a nice idea," she said. "If it's going to be something more, somebody has to work out the details."

THE PARK cleanup concept is offered as a potential solution to the vandalism plaguing Edward N. Hines and other county parks. Vandalism in the parks will cost taxpayers about $650,000 this year, county officials estimate, while budgetary constraints limit the number of park personnel and Sheriff's deputies who can police the parks.

Commissioners approved Korney's resolution 18-0 with one abstention. Mrs. Dumas voted in favor of the resolution despite her doubts.

Other western Wayne County commissioners who voted in favor of the resolution include Royce Smith (D-Belleville), whose district includes Plymouth and Canton, and Tom Taylor (D-Westland), whose district includes part of Westland and Garden City. Richard Manning (D-Redford), whose district includes Redford and parts of Livonia, and John Barr (D-Dearborn Heights), whose district includes part of Westland, were not present for the roll call.

TAYLOR AND Manning believe work assignments will help solve the county's vandalism problem.

"I think it will begin to solve the problem," said Taylor. "But I think the number of people breaking the law is so significant that it won't solve the whole problem."

Taylor believes more money should be committed to policing the parks. Local police departments and the Wayne County Sheriff's Department should cooperate on park law enforcement, he said.

"It's going to take a cooperative venture, and the police have to have solid community support behind them. None of the agencies can surmount this alone. The park (Edward Hines) is now unusable by family groups."

Manning said some local communities have used the work concept in dealing with vandalism in city parks.

"Their probation people have indicated that it worked out very well," Manning said. "I think the same will be true of Hines Park. I think when the word gets around, we might see a sharp decrease in vandalism."

BUT JUDGE HAMMER disagrees. A judge can sentence only willing individuals to work in the parks, he said. Court-appointed probation officers must supervise the convicted vandals.

"I tried to do the same thing in Garden City," Hammer said. "But union representatives of the (Garden City) DPW and Parks and Recreation Department said no—it would deprive their employees of work."

"Everybody has disdain for the vandalism in the parks. You can see the vandals' work. But the commissioners should investigate to see if this is feasible. I don't think it is."

ACCORDING TO Manning, Hines Park supervisors have agreed to supervise vandals cleaning the park.

"The matter has been discussed with legal counsel and the park people," he said. "We're talking about paper stabbing. At the end of the day, there'd be a report on the workers."

Mrs. Dumas said she's spoken to numerous district judges about Korney's resolution. Many, she said, believe details of the cleanup assignment should be worked out.

"I think it's a great idea," she said, "and I'd like to see it implemented. I would like a meeting with the district judges, Sheriff's Department and road commission and have them sit down with the board of commissioners to work out the details."

At last week's board of commissioners meeting, Mrs. Dumas had moved to send Korney's resolution to committee for further investigation. Her motion was defeated.

"The district judges had not been contacted," she explained. "I don't want this to become window dressing. I want something more to come out of it."

Television production techniques and advanced photography will be the topics of two courses offered this fall at Madonna College in Livonia.

No previous knowledge of television techniques is required for the production class. Students will learn to write and edit a script, direct a program and produce visuals. They will also learn studio management, lighting and camera operation.

Madonna, which has a three-camera studio, will take the students on a tour of ABC-TV facilities in Detroit.

Photography students will learn advanced creative techniques of black and white photography, as well as learning to develop their own color slides. Students must own an adjustable camera and have previous dark-room experience.

The two four-credit courses will be taught by Charles D. Derry, stage manager for WXYZ-TV, a member of the Professional Photographers of America and the Directors Guild.

Registration for these and other classes will be daily, beginning September 2. Potential freshmen need only present their high school transcript or evidence of passing the General Education Development test to be considered for admission. Students transferring from other colleges can bring a transcript that may be evaluated immediately.

Madonna, a four-year co-educational liberal arts college has specialized programs in criminal justice, fire protection and occupational safety, child care, teacher education, allied health careers and nursing.

New programs for the fall include classes to train interpreters for the deaf, legal assistants and public administrators.

For the convenience of students, classes are scheduled mornings through evenings and Saturdays.

For further information call the admissions office.

Compromise passes House

A teacher strike bill was passed late Wednesday by the Michigan House and sent to Gov. William Milliken. The governor has promised to veto the bill.

The compromise bill permits teacher strikes of up to four weeks. The first two weeks could be made up, but teachers would not be paid for the second two weeks of the strike.

The House concurred with Senate amendments to the original teacher strike bill.

Earlier, the state supreme court agreed that the Crestwood School District could fire teachers who struck last fall. The ruling was based, in part, upon the absence of legislation such as was passed Wednesday.

Canton youngsters enjoy day camp

STEVE BARDELL is intent on getting in shape for the Frisbee match at a Canton Township Recreation Dept. day camp.

The Canton Township Recreation Department daycamps are halfway through the six-week sessions, and for the children and instructors involved, it's been a good summer.

The camps at Fiegel and Gallimore elementary schools have averaged 20 children, ages six through 12, at each camp. Some have signed up for the full course, and others attend for one week or more.

Thursday was swim day at the Central Middle School pool and excitement was high as arrivals greeted Carol Greene, supervisor at the Gallimore day camp.

"Mrs. Greene, I forgot my quarter."

"That's all right. We'll get it later."

"Mrs. Greene, I have my bathing suit on under my shorts."

"So have I."

"Mrs. Greene, look what I have from the baseball game."

"I have one too. Feel how soft the rabbit's foot is."

Mrs. Greene "feels how soft" the two bright yellow rabbits' feet are.

"Did the Tigers win?" Groans from two little blond-haired girls. "No. Our team was just no good."

Mrs. Greene is a teacher who lives on Herbey in Canton. She has two assistants, Linda Donawick of Canton, a student in education at Henry Ford Community College, and Dave Clinton, a Plymouth Salem High graduate who will attend the University of Michigan in the fall.

Daycamp meets five days a week, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Each Friday the two camps get together for a sort of field day. They go on one field trip a week. Visits are made to Greenfield Village, Kent Lake, the Detroit Zoo and Upland Hills. They also have a fishing excursion.

This is the second year the township has sponsored summer daycamps.

Deadline is Aug. 28

Few takers for gas licenses

Gasoline station attendants working in Canton Township have until Aug. 28 to prove their knowledge of safe gasoline-pumping methods.

A gasoline station ordinance, passed by the board of trustees in May, requires all gasoline station attendants to possess township-issued licenses by

Aug. 28. Failure to comply with the ordinance is punishable by a maximum $100 fine, 90 days in jail, or both.

But despite letters sent to all gasoline station owners in Canton, only one attendant so far has submitted a license application.

Bruce Phillips, the township's ordinance officer, will begin issuing ordinance violations Aug. 28 to gasoline station attendants or owners. Employers who fail to inform attendants of the new law will be ticketed.

To receive the wallet-size license, persons must pass a gasoline safety examination. Written by township Fire Chief Mel Paulin, the test is composed of one essay and 11 multiple choice questions.

Persons must answer 80 per cent of the questions correctly to pass the examination. Persons who fail may take the test again.

Fee for the one-time license is $2. Gasoline station attendants must carry the license while at work.

Purpose of the licensing ordinance is to discourage establishment of self-service gasoline stations in the township because of potential safety hazards. The ordinance destroys the economic feasibility of self-service stations, since all customers would have to hold licenses.

Center readies for opening

Canton Township's Recreation Hall, located at the corner of Michigan and Sheldon, will soon bustle with activity.

That's the word from township Supervisor Robert Greenstein, who says renovation work on the former auction hall is almost complete. The building should open to senior citizens and other groups by the end of August.

"It's coming along great," Greenstein said. "The whole thing had to be completely renovated inside and out. There's a whole new appearance to the building."

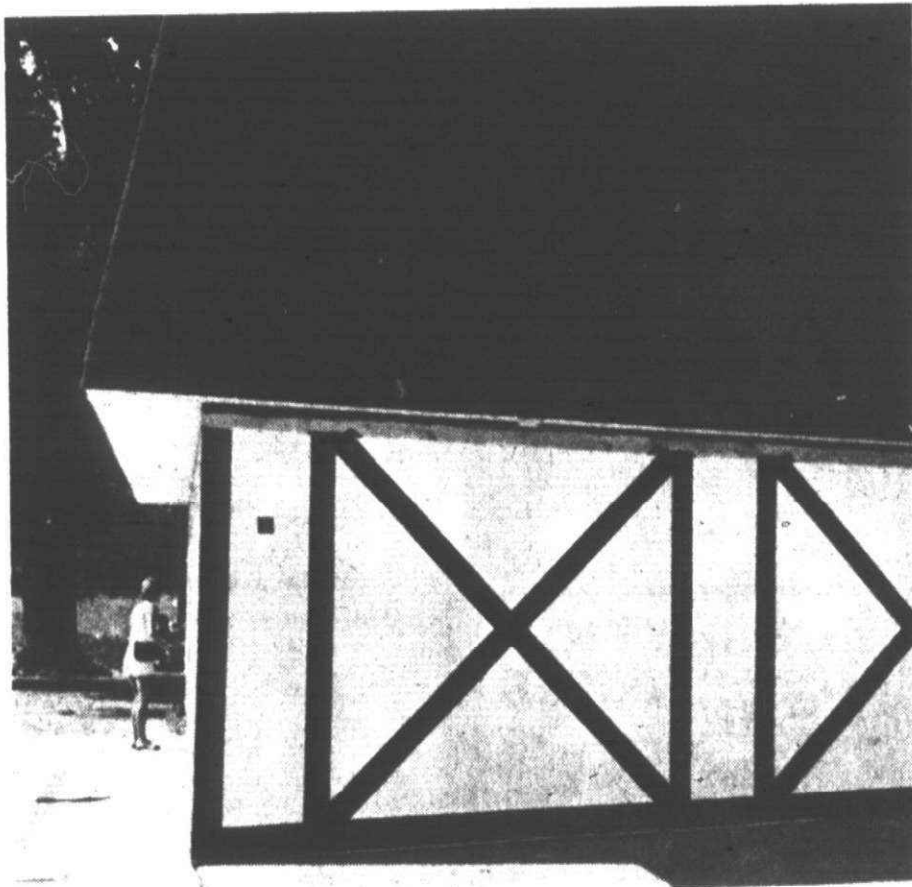

Township workers have transformed the buildings exterior from a ramshackle appearance to an English Tudor look and constructed new kitchen and bathroom facilities. Finishing touches are all the work that remains.

The rented facility will serve as a headquarters for the township recreation department, as well as a spot where senior citizen groups and other organizations can meet.

The facility is desperately needed, Greenstein says. Brenda Pollack, director of the township's recreation department, now works in cramped office space at the firehall. Lack of space has limited the number of recreational programs offered to the community.

To equip the new facility, recreation department officials are asking for a donation of supplies, such as books, magazines, records, radio, television, games and movie projectors.

Persons wishing to make donations or obtain information about this fall's recreation or senior citizen programs are asked to contact the Canton Township Recreation Department.

NEARING COMPLETION, a former eyesore to Canton residents has been transformed with a Tudor-styled front and plenty of room inside for recreation activities. During the day Canton's new center will house a senior citizens program and will be available at times for all residents of the township to use. The former auction center and grocery store now houses the township's recreation offices as well. Recreation director Brenda Pollack (below) makes a survey of the new kitchen facilities in the center. (Staff photos by Maurie Walker)

County says no to car repairs

of the State of Michigan require that in order for this board to be liable for defects in the highway or the roadway, we must have notice of such a defect or defects prior to the occurrence of the accident.

"The reason for this is apparent in that such alleged defects are often caused by intervening third parties not employed by this board. We had no prior notice of this alleged defect in the roadway.

"For the above reason, we must deny any and all liability for this accident."

Hoffman is not satisfied.

REFERRING to his case, which is now WCRC File PD 75-76, GCL Case No. 75-121, DA: 6-30-75, he sent another communication to the road commission:

"When I returned to the chuckhole on Joy Road at 6 p.m. on Monday, June 30, to measure the width, length and depth of that specific chuckhole, I found it had been repaired during that same day, between the time I struck it, at 6:45 a.m., and 6 p.m.

"If this repair was part of a routine maintenance program, then why was it not mentioned in your letter that this stretch of road was repaired that same day? And if your investigation was thorough, it should have been mentioned.

"Your conjecture that it was an 'alleged defect in the roadway' is out of line. Mr. Bernard Nagel, who lives across Joy Road, can attest that this is a fact. I have confidence his neighbors would confirm this as a fact. I surmise you did not contact Mr. Nagel with a view to attaining this information.

"I submit that you have the protection of the Statutes of the State of Michigan and perhaps because no notice was in a Wayne County Road Commission specifically annotated file, you deemed your investigation complete and conclusive.

"While you have all this going for you, I am chagrined at your use of the word 'alleged' to reinforce your position. And that you do not, in fact, have a sense of propriety.

"Please be advised I am soliciting your effort to reconsider and investigate this case."

He is awaiting a reply and hoping the road commission will reconsider his case.

"It's not a matter of principle," said Hoffman. "It's a matter of $58."

Sewer rate hike fate up to Detroit Council

Plymouth and Canton area residents opposing the proposed 40 per cent rate hike in sewer rates for this fall, can take their complaints to Detroit City Council next Monday, Aug. 4.

The city council has set a public hearing on the rate increases recommended by the Detroit Metro Water Department (DMWD) for residents of the city and 95 suburban communities in southeast Michigan.

The rate hike is planned to take effect on Sept. 1 to offset a projected deficit by the sewage fund by close to $2 million.

The DMWD board approved the rate increase in April, despite protests from several suburban officials.

At that time the water board also proposed a water rate increase, but backed off when suburban pressure to hold the line on water rates surfaced.

The Detroit City Council has the final say on the approval of the proposed rate increase.

According to Plymouth City Manager Fred Yockey, the increase will mean a hike of about $2.71 per quarter for the "average" residential customer in the city.

Rate increases for individual homes vary greatly according to municipal officials, but the raw rate increase for the City of Plymouth and Plymouth and Canton townships will be identical.

An attempt by Oakland County Drain Commissioner George W. Kuhn to block the rate increase because it is "inordinate, out of line and outrageously high" was foiled this month.

Kuhn filed suit in Oakland County Circuit Court asking for an injunction until the court could determine if the increase is appropriate. Kuhn's request was denied by Circuit Judge John N. chambers in City-County Building, Woodward and Jefferson.

The Stroller
The garden prize that got away

By W. W. EDGAR

Every summer when the county fair circuit opens, The Stroller is reminded of the prize cucumber he raised only to find that the top prize at the fair was given to someone else.

It was the climax of a queer twist of events that started when The Stroller was coaxed into planting a vegetable garden.

At the time he was eking out his existence in the sports department of the Free Press and toiled until the wee hours of the morning. He had just moved to Livonia and with vacant land all about him, the neighbors decided they'd have their own gardens and The Stroller fell in line.

After the soil was prepared he dutifully selected the varieties of vegetables he wanted—and went to work as a gentleman farmer.

When it came to planting the cucumbers he followed instructions to the letter. He prepared the ground in a three-foot circle, then hilled it up in the center. This done, he flattened it on the top and was ready to plant.

THE INSTRUCTIONS called for using the index finger to design a five pointed star and to drop a seed in each hole. This seemed sort of a small dose, so The Stroller placed about four seeds in each hole.

It wasn't very long until the tiny plants started to pop through the ground and one morning a neighbor called, "Your cucumbers will soon start to run."

This was a surprise as The Stroller thought they grew on bushes, and he just smiled in return. What a surprise he got when within a week, the green streamers started across the garden.

Just about that time The Stroller and the lady who runs our house left on a three-week vacation. The cucumbers were forgotten over that stretch and no thought was given them again until the Sunday morning we returned home.

Then one of the neighbors dropped by and asked, "How are your cucumbers coming along—mine weren't worth a darn."

"Go down and look at them," he was told, "we haven't given them a thought for weeks."

Down he went and in a few moments let out a yell. Thinking something was wrong, The Stroller ran to the garden, only to see his neighbor hold up a gint size cucumber and say, "the garden is filled with them."

TOLD THAT HE COULD have all he wanted he left with a huge basket of them and we didn't see him again for two weeks.

Then, on a Sunday morning, he drove in all smiles.

"You'd never guess what happened," he said. "I entered them, in the Northville Fair and won the blue ribbon. The judges claimed they never had seen such cucumbers."

How did they grow so large?

"We studied for a while with little satisfaction until a neighboring farmer dropped by. After looking about he asked where our drains were located."

Told that the sewer crock ran down along the fence, the farmer chuckled and said, "No wonder, your cucumbers were so big. You planted them right over the drain tile."

So, it's no wonder The Stroller recalls his gardening experience every summer when the county fair circuit opens.

He had never seen cucumbers so large before, or since, the day he gave the prize winners away.

Suggestions win cash for GM workers

By DENNY COFFMAN

LIVONIA—They say a picture is worth 1,000 words. At General Motors' Chevrolet Spring and Bumper plant in Livonia, an idea is worth $10,000.

That's the maximum award given employees whose suggestions pay off for the nation's leading automaker. At Spring and Bumper, two $10,000 awards were handed out last year.

each resulting in savings in excess of $60,000 to the company. From 806 suggestion awards, the plant estimates it saved about $1.1 million.

Though some suggestions are highly technical and require sound expertise in a specific manufacturing area, the two biggest money-winners were surprisingly simple—the type that would prompt the remark, "Why didn't I think of that."

HENRY MISIALOWSKI got $10,000 for suggesting the plant use a smaller section of steel to stamp out bumpers. Multiplied thousands of times, however, that small savings became enormous.

For Misialowski, the suggestion box has been nearly as profitable as winning in the state lottery. He has collected more than $40,000 for his ideas.

Ron Cross, an unskilled production worker from Westland, furnished another "obvious" suggestion. He advised that, instead of removing bumpers from a stack to get to a bumper with defective rubber stripping, a butane torch be used to seal the strip back onto the bumper while it remained in the rack.

The solution to that labor-consuming problem was simple and required no technical knowledge, just common sense.

"I didn't think I'd win," says Cross, whose wife is expecting a baby. "I had been laid off for a week. I can use the money for house payments. It's good to have some extra help."

TO AVOID misunderstandings and disagreements later, suggestions coordinators Chuck McNamara stamps each suggestion with the date and time it is received by his office.

He recommends hourly employees work with their foremen or with his office if they need help in expressing their thoughts in words. Foremen, considered part of management, are not eligible for suggestion awards.

"Some of our employees have difficulty putting their ideas on paper," says McNamara. "So we help them with the wording. But the ideas are theirs."

LAST YEAR, the plant presented $6,000 and $5,000 awards in addition to the two $10,000 prizes; in its best year, it received 2,900 suggestions.

But, perhaps the one that will endure after all others have been forgotten was the suggestion submitted by an employee with a sense of humor: "Raise and shift the plant," he advised, "to an east-west axis by using thousands of automobile jacks. In doing so, the plant would receive the maximum amount of sunlight and be able to be heated by solar radiation."

The suggestion received plenty of laughs in the office, but not even the minimum suggestion award of $15.

A BETTER IDEA contributed by Ron Cross, left, saved man-hours for foreman Jim Merians, right, and made Cross $10,000 richer.

Beware false company reps

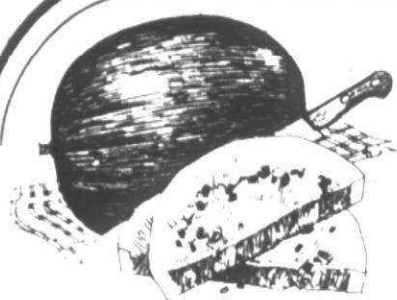

Area residents should be wary of admitting anyone claiming to be a Consumers Power Co. representative into their homes, and also fast-talking business people who want money right away for the home services they offer.

Consumers Power Division Manager of Livonia James P. Thomas said two men posing as Consumers Power representatives gained entrance into three homes, one in Livonia, stealing money and jewelry. Thomas said the men wore yellow hats similar to Consumers Power hard hats.

Thomas said residents should refuse admittance to anyone claiming to represent the company if they cannot show positive identification, and then call the company for verification.

Police also warn residents against allowing any strangers into their homes. Homeowners should be alert to fast-talkers who offer services like spraying roofs for leaks and fixing driveways, who want to do the job right away and collect their money.

Red, blue or green--witches practiced openly

No blue nor red was ever seen,
So amorous as this lovely green;
Here at the fountain's sliding foot
Or at some fruit tree's mossy root
Casting the body's vest aside,
Her soul into the boughs does glide.

--Maxfield Parrish

During the early Middle Ages in Western Europe there were three main cults of witches--the red, the blue and the green. In those days the witch hunt mania had not yet struck, and witches could still practice their craft openly.

It was customary at the time of big festivals and sabbats for witches to smear their skins with vegetable dyes, coloring themselves red, blue or green to identify with the cult to which they belonged.

In much the same way American Indians painted particular designs on their faces to identify with their own tribes.

AS I UNDERSTAND it, the blue witches studied the stars and were deeply interested in both astronomy and astrology. Red witches were alchemists, and green witches were primarily agricultural people.

Naturally, all three of these overlapped, since green witches planted their crops according to the phases of the moon, and the red and blue witches also depended on the fertility of the earth for their existence, just as we all do today.

Since my ancestors were among the "Green Ladies of Scotland," I sometimes observe the old custom of dying myself green when I entertain at folklore programs.

The first day of August is the day witches celebrate the fall festival. It is a time for giving thanks for a good harvest, and also for bragging a bit about the successful work we have done in the past seasons.

THERE IS AN old story which illustrates the thought behind this:

Once there was a gardener who was known far and wide for his unusually beautiful garden. His roses were as large as your two hands cupped together.

One day, as the old man was working in his garden, a priest, who was passing by, stopped to admire the flowers.

"Mrs. Jones," he said, "this is truly the most beautiful garden I have ever seen. Isn't it wonderful what you and the Lord have done together?"

"Yes," answered the gardener, "it is for a fact. But you sure ought to see what this garden looks like when I leave it to the Lord alone."

Witches recognize that although we are given many blessings and much to work with, we must put forth a bit of effort ourselves. It's what you do with those given blessings that determines the end result. It may have been a witch who said, "The Lord helps those who help themselves."

The following song is often sung by witches to the tune of "Sweet Betsy of Pike." I think you might enjoy singing it, too.

SONG OF THE HARVEST SABBAT

The fruits of the earth may be sent from above.
And we should improve them with wisdom and love.

If apples and grapes are both products divine.
Who prefers water to cider and wine?

Chorus:
Up with the ladder and down with the fruits,
The wheat and the barley, as much as the corn
Have kept us alive ever since we were born;
But unless we had turned them to flour and bread,

In with a shovel and out with the roots.

The Gods may provide us with life from the land,
But the harvest we hold is the work of our hand.

Dame Nature's a wonder, we all do agree;
Who knows our necessities better than she?

Yet, though she is doing as well as she can,
She answers her best to the touch of a man!

Chorus:
The wheat and the barley, as much as the corn
Have kept us alive ever since we were born;
But unless we had turned them to flour and bread,

Few would be living, and many be dead.

Chorus:
We pray for the seasons to be as they should;
Dry or wet weather may do our crops good.

Though, if sunshine is needed to ripen the grain,
Who risks rheumatics by working in rain?

Chorus:
Whatever the task, and wherever the field,
We reap our reward with the sickles we wield.

For if all things grew from their numberless seeds,
The whole of our world would be covered with weeds.

Chorus:
So here's to the Gods and the men of this earth
Who take one another for what they are worth;

Each of them doing what has to be done.
In order to live altogether as ONE!

County backs SC-WSU plan

A barrier blocking a consortium proposal between Schoolcraft College and Wayne State University (WSU) is under attack by Wayne County officials.

The Board of Commissioners July 24 unanimously approved a resolution, submitted by Commissioner Mary Dumas (R-Livonia), requesting that the State House Appropriations Committee delete language in the community college appropriations bill that is blocking the consortium proposal.

The bill prohibits two-year institutions from joining four-year colleges in any agreement calling for "leasing, rental or purchase of space without specific legislative authorization."

The consortium proposal between WSU and Schoolcraft College includes leasing the Wayne County Child Development Center in Northville. The facility, vacated last November, would provide laboratory space and a possible vocational skills center.

WSU and Schoolcraft officials recently signed an agreement, promising greater cooperation between the two schools. The agreement expands the schools' current "2-plus-2" program, under which students take two years of classes at Schoolcraft and the last two years at WSU.

The Schoolcraft district includes the Livonia, Clarenceville, Garden City, Plymouth and Northville school districts.

Milliken OKs death law

Gov. William G. Milliken has signed into law a bill establishing criteria for a uniform determination of death.

Because of the modern complications surrounding the question of the moment of death, as in transplant cases, legislation approved July 14 was introduced to provide clear legal guidelines.

Under the measure (HB 4653), a person is considered dead if—in the announced opinion of a physician there is an irreversible cessation of spontaneous respiratory and circulator functions.

If these functions are continuing because of artificial support mechanisms, a person will be considered dead if in the announced opinion of a physician there is an irreversible cessation of spontaneous brain functions.

Death is to be announced before artificial supports of respiratory and circulatory functions are stopped. The means of determining death will be used for all purposes in Michigan—including criminal and civil cases.

Survival training essential for students

Round and round the teacher strike bill goes: where she'll stop, nobody knows.

Latest word from Lansing is that the version which passed the Senate (allowing teachers to strike for up to four weeks with two week's pay) will be shuttled back to the House for agreement before being sent to Gov. Milliken. As the House version would have allowed five-week strikes for three week's pay, the Senate's bill is an improvement.

But not enough, particularly for suburban school districts which have suffered through what seems like endless trouble with strikes and labor trouble.

As it stands now, the Senate bill should be vetoed by the governor. It will almost certainly encourage two-week strikes which incur no loss in pay. It will almost certainly disrupt parents trying to plan their family schedules around school opening and closing. And it may provoke school boards simply to set back the opening of the school year by two weeks in order to meet the end of school deadline without a strike.

WHILE everybody's sitting around waiting to see what's going to happen in Lansing, it might be a good time to do some thinking about what's going to be taught in the schools—when and as they do open.

It's long occurred to me that living in our present day world is both complicated and tough. Just to survive our environment requires a wide variety of skills, many of which are not taught in school. For example, virtually everybody takes driver training because getting a license and driving a car are virtually necessary in today's world.

But not everybody can change an electrical plug or balance a checkbook, even though these skills are nearly as needed for everyday living as driving. A recent wire service survey pointed out that more than 50 per cent of shoppers questioned did not know enough simple math to understand how to convert unit prices to get the best buy.

Hence, it seems to me that our schools ought to consider providing a set of required courses to teach all students at least the rudiments needed to cope in our present world.

IT COULD be called "Survival," and it could include:

How to fill in your tax returns; how to shop, including unit pricing, seasonal price fluctuations, and simple math for comparison pricing; how to do simple cooking, such as frying an egg or making a hamburger; how to balance a checkbook, together with what financial records ought to be kept; how to use credit cards, and what "annual interest rate" and "minimum payment" mean.

How to figure out your property tax bill; how to use the telephone, how much which kind of calls cost, and how to read the bill; what Social Security and Unemployment Compensation are and how much is taken out of the paycheck for them; what homeowners and automobile insurance policies are and how to read them.

How to do simple home repairs, such as changing a plug, unstopping a sink, fixing a leaky washer, stopping a toilet when its running, hanging a picture without getting the plaster cracked, lighting the pilot light on the stove. How to do simple things with a car, such as changing a tire, knowing when to change the oil, jumping a battery when it is low, and asking the mechanic reasonable questions about the bill.

Elementary first aid, including mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. Laundry, including why you don't

by PHILIP H. POWER

do the red socks together with the white underwear. Baby sitting, including bottle feeding and burping.

And so forth.

MANY OF these skills are taught today in schools, particularly in home economics classes or shop. But some schools do not happen to have home ec or shop, and in most they are not required courses. In addition, girls generally do not take shop and boys generally do not take home ec.

Of all the schools in the area, those in Plymouth appear to have gone the farthest with this approach. As a result of a program of curriculum broadening started four years ago, the system is offering a large variety of courses in survival Home management, effective buying, auto service, personal finance, and other survival skills are all taught in the regular and adult education classes.

Plymouth Salem High School even has a unit of English entitled "Survival," which sets a situation requiring students to call on their survival skills. Salem also has an elective course in "Bachelor Living," which is sort of a home ec class for boys, covering cooking, shopping, unit pricing and so on. The phys ed program covers lifetime sports such as archery and hiking, and each new student is provided an advisor to teach the student how to survive in a big educational system.

Other schools in the area have similar programs, although few have gone as far as Plymouth.

As parents, students, administrators and teachers spend the next few weeks figuring out how to survive the uncertainty of strikes, it might be worthwhile for them all to think over just how to bring the schools into the mainstream of teaching our citizens how to cope with the problem of survival in our present day environment.

Campaign bill is a mistake

A campaign "reform" bill passed the State House of Representatives on July 22 of this year.

Reform is always an interesting word because it must be measured in light of whose ox is gored, and one must understand who the reformers are and who they are trying to reform.

The bill is 71 pages long, contains 199 sections, and it has been amended nearly 500 times. Consequently, it really is not in very good shape at this time to be called good legislation.

The purpose of the bill is good.

THE PRIME movers behind it are Common Cause, the so-called peoples' lobby.

The bill sets up an ethics committee, limits campaign contributions, sets up a reporting system for contributions and expenditures, regulates lobbyists and provides that tax money can be used for certain state campaign funds.

It applies not just to state-elected officials, but to all candidates running for public office in the State of Michigan.

Its main problem is that it takes potential state revenues out of the general fund and puts them into campaign funds at a time when the state can ill afford the cost.

IN TRYING TO make the elected officials pure, it requires voluminous paperwork that could very well discourage good people from seeking public office.

It requires financial reporting that includes not only the candidate, but his spouse, parent, brother, sister, son or daughter.

It limits the contribution to $1,700 by a single individual for any candidate for a state elective office. However, it allows union organizations to contribute 10 times that amount.

IT IS QUITE explicit that all contributions over $15 must be reported and for what purposes the money can be spent, but it does not include "voluntary personal service provided without compensation", which means the unions can still put on massive get-out-the-vote campaigns for a particular candidate which don't have to be reported.

Eccentricities

by HANK HOGAN

It makes it illegal for a lobbyist to provide certain niceties to elected officials, but it doesn't make it illegal for the elected officials to accept them.

IT IS IMPORTANT that Michigan codifies the law concerning the political activities contained in this bill.

But it is also very important that it be a practical document, not necessarily drawn up by a group that itself lobbies for legislation.

It would be wonderful if each person wrote his legislator and asked for a copy of the proposed act, H.B. 5250, and took some time to read it, if it is truly to be a bill representing the feelings of the people.

It is also very important that the State Senate not act impulsively on this legislation because the many amendments put in by the House of Representatives in the closing hours before passage make the bill much more complex than when it was originally written.

I stress this again because it refers to more than state elected officials, and people who are involved in local or county politics should make sure the bill isn't written with only the state legislator in mind.

It truly would be a mistake to make this proposed bill, as presently written, a law, because it creates more problems than it solves.

Area has spirited elections

By FRED DELANO

One of the most spirited municipal political seasons this sector of Wayne County has enjoyed in years appears in the offing these next three months, with Livonia, Plymouth, Westland and Garden City office-seekers all sharing the stage.

All four of these cities have key posts to fill in November's general election, and so numerous are the candidates that a primary will be needed in each city to select the finalists.

The first of these eliminations comes up Tuesday in Plymouth, the other three scheduling their primaries in early September. The very nature of the impending battles, the plethora of candidates and the names involved stamp these campaigns as being of more than passing interest beyond pure local boundaries.

PLYMOUTH'S PRIMARY Tuesday is the city's first in 12 years and was forced when 10 candidates jumped into the contest for the four city commission seats at stake in November.

The field includes two incumbents and eight challengers, with the real battle lines to be drawn after finalists are determined. Even now, however, forces are forming in an effort to deny reelection to Mayor Beverly McAninch and Commissioner John Cummings.

Plymouth is not overly accustomed to surprises in choosing its municipal leaders, but an experiment last week by retiring Commissioner Robert Sincok shows there's no telling what may come out of the election grab-bag Nov. 4. Sincok asked seven locally knowledgeable luncheon companions to write down their predictions of who the four November winners would be—and found that no two totally agreed.

LIVONIA ALREADY is beginning to build up a head of steam, largely because, in addition to a dozen candidates for the four council seats (including a quartet of incumbents), a dilly of a fight is shaping up for the $30,000-a-year mayor's post.

Mayor Edward McNamara, who won re-election his last time out in what racetrackers call a walk-over—meaning totally without rivals, now faces the challenge of two foes in his bid for a third term.

Among them is Harvey Moelke, who had the mayor's throne for eight years before being unseated by McNamara in 1970. Their rematch, with one other also coveting votes, makes the Sept. 9 primary one much of the state will be watching.

What with McNamara having been the state's Democratic candidate in a losing fight for the post of lieutenant governor in 1970, and oft mentioned as a potential congressional hopeful, you can see the challenge facing him in '75 has the makings of a home town free-for-all.

THE ABUNDANCE of council candidates (11) necessitates a primary in Westland, where the four incumbents seeking re-election have opposition from seven newcomers, but it's the two-man mayor's race that offers fireworks potential.

Westland, like Livonia, has a strong-mayor system of government, and currently the job pays $28,000. Incumbent Eugene McKinney is shooting for his fourth term and standing in his way, already shooting off volleys of political verbiage, is County Commissioner Tom Taylor. Judging from early exchanges, the vitriol will be flowing knee-deep long before November's decision at the polls.

Garden City offers the intriguing circumstance of a government being formed for the first time under a newly adopted charter, and everyone wants to get in on the act. Four candidates in the race for mayor and 15 for seats on the council promise to keep that community in a political tizzy both through the primary and general elections.

Right across the board, large fields are the order of the day. One can't be sure just what brought this about, but perhaps to some degree it reflects the post-Watergate tenor of our times as opportunists seek to feed a public appetite for change.

G.I.T.W.A.? ("GET IT TOGETHER WITH ACCOUNTABILITY")

Regional agency OK

By TIM RICHARD

Regional government is here; it has been here for some time.

Our water and sewer services are provided by a regional agency known as the Detroit Metropolitan Water Department. There is a five-county parks system run by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority (HCMA). We have a Southeast Michigan Comprehensive Health Planning Council, which has something to say about which hospitals perform which services.

We have a regional public transportation agency known colloquially as SEMTA. And we have the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG), which appoints SEMTA board members, reviews local units' requests for federal money and engages in regional planning.

We have regional government, but what we don't have is regional accountability. How do you know how those regional services are being delivered? Whom can you holler at when you want change? Who represents you on SEMCOG, SEMTA, HCMA and the rest?

WITH THAT BACKGROUND, it's difficult to understand the eyebrow-raising and negative reactions last week when State Rep. William D. Ryan (D-Detroit) introduced a bill to re-structure SEMCOG as a partly elective body.

Ryan, former speaker of the Michigan House, put in bill form the Metropolitan Fund proposal to make regional government directly accountable to the people.

SEMCOG's delegates, to refresh your memories, are picked by the governing bodies of the 110 or so member cities, townships, villages, counties and education districts. It's like the old-fashioned county board of supervisors system—a person wears his local government hat one day and his county supervisor hat the next.

Under the Ryan-Metro Fund plan, SEMCOG would become the Southeast Michigan Planning and Development Agency and be governed by a 41-member board. Twenty members would be elected directly by us voters in districts, 20 would be elected by all governments in the seven-county region (not just "members"), and a chairman would be elected at large.

Thus, 21 of the 41 members wear only one hat—the regional agency's—and must answer directly to the people. That's known as accountability. It's an excellent governmental principle.

BUT ANOTHER facet of the Ryan plan is even more significant. Tucked on the 21st page of his 22-page bill is this provision:

The new council is to conduct a three-year charter study and report back to the Legislature on "the advisability of continuation, consolidation or modification of any or all of the southeast Michigan special purpose regional agencies with justification for the recommendations as well as detailed proposals for effectuating the recommendations."

That's lawyer's talk. What it means is that the regional council has the clout and the ear of the Legislature on deciding whether such agencies as the Detroit water board, the Huron-Clinton parks agency and others shall continue to go their own ways or start following the regional plan and start being accountable to people.

Of course, the regional council has the option of asking to keep the status quo. But no one who has ever studied regional systems—and four such studies have been conducted in Michigan—has ever said our current hodge-podge system of no accountability is the best of all worlds.

Almost without exception, students of regional systems think regional agencies should be accountable and should be integrated under a single "umbrella" agency. This could become possible under the Ryan bill. Here's wishing him luck.

'Total Woman' doesn't fit Schoolcraft goals

Editor:

May I commend the Schoolcraft College Women's Advisory Committee on the stand taken in reference to the commercially packaged program called "The Total Woman." It is indicative of the committee's insight and understanding relative to what the Women's Resource Center at the college is all about and why it was originally funded.

It has been one of my concerns that it should be comprised of people who are in the mainstream of things, cognizant of changing roles and life styles of women, with the courage to push for women's programs that are truly viable and meaningful. I am satisfied. I'm not satisfied, however, that their action, as well as that of some members of our board of trustees (which was meeting at the same time as the advisory committee), should be misconstrued as censorship or interference with the right to read. To set the record straight, the question of censorship and the right to read was definitely not the intent or substance of my proposal to place discussion on the unit "The Total Woman" on our Aug. 13 study agenda. The intent was to follow through on my commitment to be on guard (as a person and trustee) that our woman's program would continue to be an enriching, upgrading kind of program, for which we were funded twice by the government for the purpose of raising the status of a sociological minority group—namely, women. I would be derelict in my duty if terminology in the packaged program is a complete misnomer, for it does not speak to and of women as total persons for whom their sex is but one aspect of personality. It treats women as sex objects, which is not only degrading but downgrading; certainly not upgrading as was the original intent of the program and funding.

In reference to the right to read, those who know me know how loudly I have spoken for that right and will understand my chagrin at the implication that I would in any way interfere with that right. However, the misunderstanding may have arisen from the fact that the course in question, put out by Total Woman, Inc., is based on the book entitled "The Total Woman," which in turn is a take-off on the book "The Sensuous Woman."

As a trustee and library commissioner, I cannot let the implication that censorship and an individual's right to read was at issue stand unanswered both as it relates to the advisory committee and myself. Hopefully, it is clear to the citizenry that the issue is one of program, its relevancy, appropriateness or inappropriateness for our Women's Resource Center at Schoolcraft—not one of censorship and the right to read.

'Boo' inserted in Record

Editor:

I very much enjoyed Tim Richard's "Boo Gorgon" column and thought it so well done that I had it inserted into the Congressional Record. It is on page E4102 of the Thursday, July 24, Record.

Most of the bicentennial articles stress the patriotism and heroics of the day, and give the impression that there was little dissent at the time. Articles such as his put the remote, historical era into a modern perspective, and help Americans of today realize the similarities between 1776 and 1976.

I suppose that many readers, particularly those living outside the Detroit metropolitan area, will not appreciate the "Boo Gorgon" byline, but that does not detract from the point of his article.

Congratulations on a good piece of writing.

Check gasoline meter at stations

Editor:

You would certainly be doing your readers a favor if you reminded them all to make sure they watched the gasoline meter every time they bought gasoline.

I have twice recently in Livonia service stations had gasoline delivered to my car without the previous purchase cleared from the meter. In talking with others it seems this is becoming a common practice, especially when a woman is doing the buying.

Out-of-doors article praised

Editor:

I am very pleased about Tim Richard's article in the Observer & Eccentric. I have been hoping for a person, such as Richard, who can put it all into words. I feel the same way he does. I have a great interest in all out-of-doors activities, in the field of hiking, camping, etc.

I am 16 and wish to go into conservation or something similar. I ride a bike and like it but I like walking a lot more. On a bike you don't get a chance to see anything because you're either going too fast or watching the path in front of you; with walking you take your time and get a chance to see the sights.

I wish more people would take interest in this article and stand up and say something about this subject and similar ones. I try to help by throwing away trash that somebody leaves to get thrown around, but it takes more than one person to do something, it takes everyone who cares and is willing to help, not forced to help, but willing to work together. I sure hope Richard writes more articles like this one so maybe more people can take interest and care.

'Fade Away' Your Gray

1st Day 6th Day 12th Day 18th Day

Time-lapse photographs show how gradual action of Grecian Formula 16 lets you control just how much gray you slowly get rid of—some of it or all of it.

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y.—Thousands of men all over the country are discovering they don't have to dye their hair a solid dark color to look years younger. Grecian Formula 16 is not a dark messy dye. It is a colorless liquid as easy to use as hair tonic. Used every day, the gray slowly 'fades away' and is replaced by natural-looking color. The change occurs so slowly over a period of time even closest associates don't notice it happening. You have complete control of just how much gray you slowly get rid of—some of it or all of it. Then once a week or so keeps it that way. Hair definitely does not have a dyed look. Grecian Formula 16, famous clear liquid and new cream are now both available at

Legislators vote for reform

All 12 state representatives from the Observer & Eccentric area voted for final passage of the sweeping political reform bill which cleared the House 74-29 July 22.

Suburban support was strong, although the bill was opposed by one-fourth of the House and eight members abstained.

Gov. Milliken is expected to sign the measure after it clears the Senate.

VOTING IN support were Reps. John Bennett (D-Redford), Wilbur Brotherton (R-Farmington), Thomas Brown (D-Westland), James Defebaugh (R-Birmingham), Richard

Fessler (R-Union Lake), Joseph Forbes (D-Oak Park), R. Robert Geake (R-Northville), William Keith (D-Garden City), Melvin Larsen (R-Oxford), John Markes (D-Westland), Ruth McNamee (R-Birmingham) and Roy Smith (R-Ypsilanti).

MARKES, THE BILL'S floor manager, called it "the most far-reaching political reform measure in the country"—and even its sometimes bitter critics agreed with that assessment.

The 71-page measure provides strict new controls over political money raising, lobbying and conduct in office. It requires disclosure of private finances by public officials from the governor to township officials as well as members of their families.

Starting with the 1978 campaign, the bill would provide public financing of gubernatorial contests—the first measure of its type in the nation. Expenditure limits would be $1 million for primaries and $1 million for November elections.

OPPONENTS, mainly Republicans, were defeated in an effort to strike the public financing portion of the bill. But they succeeded in limiting the amount to be raised from voluntary income tax checkoffs to $2.

Individual contributions would be limited to $1,700, but organized groups such as physicians or labor unions could contribute 10 times that amount in statewide races.

Republicans, originally as much in favor of the bill as Democrats, withdrew much support when they were unable to amend it to reduce what they called favored treatment for organized labor.

GC Legion 'confident' as tourney begins

By JIM BRADLEY

Garden City's American Legion baseball team is in Saginaw today playing in the first round of the Connie Mack state tournament.

Manager Jay Scowden's squad was scheduled to battle Macomb County at noon after winning its divisional title this past weekend.

Garden City swept by Southgate, 8-6, and Great Lakes, 5-3, to earn the right to travel north.

Scowden was elated with the team's 20-10 season record and the chance for a national title. But he also knew his team had its work cut out.

"This is one of the finest tournaments in Michigan and we're very happy to have a chance to play in it," Scowden said.

Included in the tourney are such powerful teams as the PAL team and 18th District winner, both of Detroit, as well as Saginaw, Saginaw Township, Macomb County and Garden City.

In a move to bolster his team's pitching corps, Scowden picked up Bill Acromite from Lincoln Park and was trying to acquire Bill Parson of Plymouth.

Lefty Bob Hudson, a regular with Garden City all season, has come up with an injured foot and will not be able to hurl in the tournament. Also, catcher Jim Zoccoli sustained a cut wrist which severely hampers his backstopping duties.

But Scowden is extremely confident. "I think we'll win it," he said calmly on eve of the team's departure for Saginaw. "I think we have an outstanding team and if we play heads up baseball, we can win and go on to Coldwater for the next round," the first-year Legion skipper added.

Garden City had to battle right down to the wire before nipping Lincoln Park for the Red Division title in the 16-team American Legion League. The league was divided into four divisions of four teams each and the division winners earned the right to play in state district tournaments.

Leading Lincoln Park by a scant half-game going into the final two games, Garden City traveled to Southgate and came from behind three times to win on Friday, 8-6.

Lefthander Gene Mastroeni started for the visitors but struggled for three innings before southpaw Greg Emery entered the picture in the third frame and took charge.

After Southgate took a 1-0 lead in the first, Garden City literally walked away to a 4-1 advantage when hurler Scott Bickley couldn't find the plate and gave free passes to four Garden City batters.

Southgate, with a weak record all season, refused to roll over and collapse. The host squad attacked Mastroeni with a vengeance, rapping three hits along with one walk and a fielding error to lead 5-4 after two innings.

Dan Haggard singled, stole second and rode home on Mark Sutherland's single to knot the score at 5-5 in the see-saw affair.

Southgate's last-gasp surge in the fifth frame sent them into a 6-5 margin on a fielding error, stolen base and single.

However, Garden City kept pecking away and knotted it again when Sutherland singled and took second on Dave Sarkessian's walk. A passed ball moved them up a peg and Sutherland scored on Emery's grounder to second.

The local contingent put it away with two in the top of the seventh when Krol doubled to lead off and was wild-pitched to third. Tod Kleinbrook popped to short center and when the flychaser dropped the ball, Kleinbrook raced into second base but Krol clung to third. Then dependable Duane Wozniak singled up the middle to send home the game-clinchers.

GARDEN CITY — GREAT LAKES
Garden City put away the division title Friday night, but didn't know it until after Sunday's 5-3 victory in an abbreviated game against Great Lakes. Lowly Grosse Ile upset Lincoln Park, 7-1, on Friday night and that gave Scowden's squad a game and one-half lead with one to play.

Garden City scored early Sunday on Kleinbrook's single and Wally Krol's triple. Krol scored when Wozniak's roller was fumbled before catcher Britt Ponte drew a pass. Then third-baseman Dan Haggard hammered one into deep right-center field to bring in three runs and give the host team the deciding edge.

Later, when a visiting player threw his bat, the umpire bounced him from the game and the contest was halted when Great Lakes couldn't field nine men.

Livonia Class F major team is used to the pressure

When the Berry Appliance Class F Major team takes the field Saturday for the Livonia city championship in the division, the pressure which usually accompanies a game of this import should be no problem.

Several members of the team, which may be composed of the best 12- and 13-year-old athletes in the area, already have a history of playing and winning under tournament conditions.

Four players on the team which draws from the Haggerty-Five Mile area in Livonia, were with the same Berry Appliance F Major team which marched to the state quarterfinals of last year's tournament.

Five others, Rich Nutter, Tom Finn, Jim Recker, Don Hauk and Tom Igou also played on the Holmes Junior High School seventh grade basketball team which won the state championship last year.

"This neighborhood has just been blessed with an exceptional group of athletes. That's about the only way to explain it," said Berry coach Lynn Nutter.

The Class F team has steamrolled through its 14-game schedule this year without a loss, the only Class F team in the city to do so. It will meet The Senators, a team geographically located south of Churchill High School in the city championship in an 8 p.m. game Saturday at Livonia's Ford Field.

THE SATURDAY game is the first in a best-of-three series with games Sunday and next Thursday at Ford Field if necessary.

The Berry team is led by Rich Nutter, son of the coach. The 12-year-old has struck out 102 opposing batters in 53 innings while giving up only six runs in running his record to 7-0.

The junior Nutter also has been a stalwart at the plate, reaching base 38 times in 45 appearances and running up a .577 batting average.

Exceptionally large for his age, Nutter plays shortstop for Berry's when not handling the mound chores.

The Berry team is far from a one-man squad, however, with several batters well above the .300 batting mark.

Tom Igou is hitting at a .485 clip, while Tom Finn and third-baseman Mark Bowen check in at .424 respectively.

The winner of the Livonia series will go to state championship competition, while the loser will go on to a runners-up tournament.

The senior Nutter, who will begin his second tournament run in a row, faces a hitting problem with this team that his state quarterfinalist team did not have last year.

"WE DON'T HAVE the hitting depth this year that we had last season. Our pitching is about the same, however," he said.

Nutter said he will maintain the same coaching philosophy which he has used all year with the exception that he will probably run the bases more freely in tournament play against teams which are not familiar with his team.

Whether or not the veteran team has the ability to sustain another run at the state championship is yet to be seen. If they do not get there, though, it will almost certainly be the other team, not the pressure, that stops them.

RICH NUTTER has led his Livonia Berry Class F Major team to the city championship with both his bat and his arm. (Staff photo by Art Emanuel)

MNB takes Berry League crown

It's official. Michigan National Bank, which was the first team to clinch a divisional title in the Livonia Berry League three weeks ago, proved itself the best in the league without a doubt when it swept a doubleheader from American League champs, the Yankees, Sunday.

MNB won the National title with a 12-2-1 record and entered the season-ending best-of-three game series a solid favorite. The Yankees finished their American League season with a 10-2-1 record. The National League is comprised primarily of high school varsity teams while the American League is made up of primarily high school junior varsity squads.

Both Michigan National Bank and the Yankees hail from the Livonia Stevenson High School area.

Michigan National Bank breezed through the first game as Pat Ruvolo, now 5-0, limited the Yankees to two hits and MNB won 5-1. Ruvolo struck out 13 and walked six. Brent Ericson pitched well for the Yankees, limiting the powerful MNB team to just six hits. Each team committed four errors.

MNB put the game away early, scoring four times in the opening inning. John Kolis walked and moved to second on a wild pitch. Kolis then scored on an error off the bat of Ron Colone.

Tim Murphy walked and Rob Rose unloaded a double scoring Colone. Both Murphy and Rose subsequently scored on consecutive fielders' choices.

The Yankees scored their run in the third when Dave Katz walked, Tom DePriest sacrificed him to second and Steve Thomas picked up the first Yankee hit of the day, doubling to left to score Katz.

The only other Yankee hit off of Ruvolo came in the fourth when Frank Lane singled.

MNB added a run in the fourth when Jeff Bond walked, Gary Beyrand was awarded first base for catcher interference and Colone again was safe on a Yankee error.

Michigan National Bank had a tougher time of it in the second game but emerged the series victors, 7-6, behind the four-hit pitching of John Kolis.

MNB again scored four runs in the first to put the Yankees in a hole. Ruvolo was hit by a pitch with one out and Murphy grounded into a fielder's choice erasing Ruvolo for the second out.

Rob Rose then homered to left to give MNB a 2-0 lead.

Jim Snyder followed with a single to center and Dave Pelly walked. Jeff Bond singled to score Snyder and Pelly scored on the play on an errant Yankee throw.

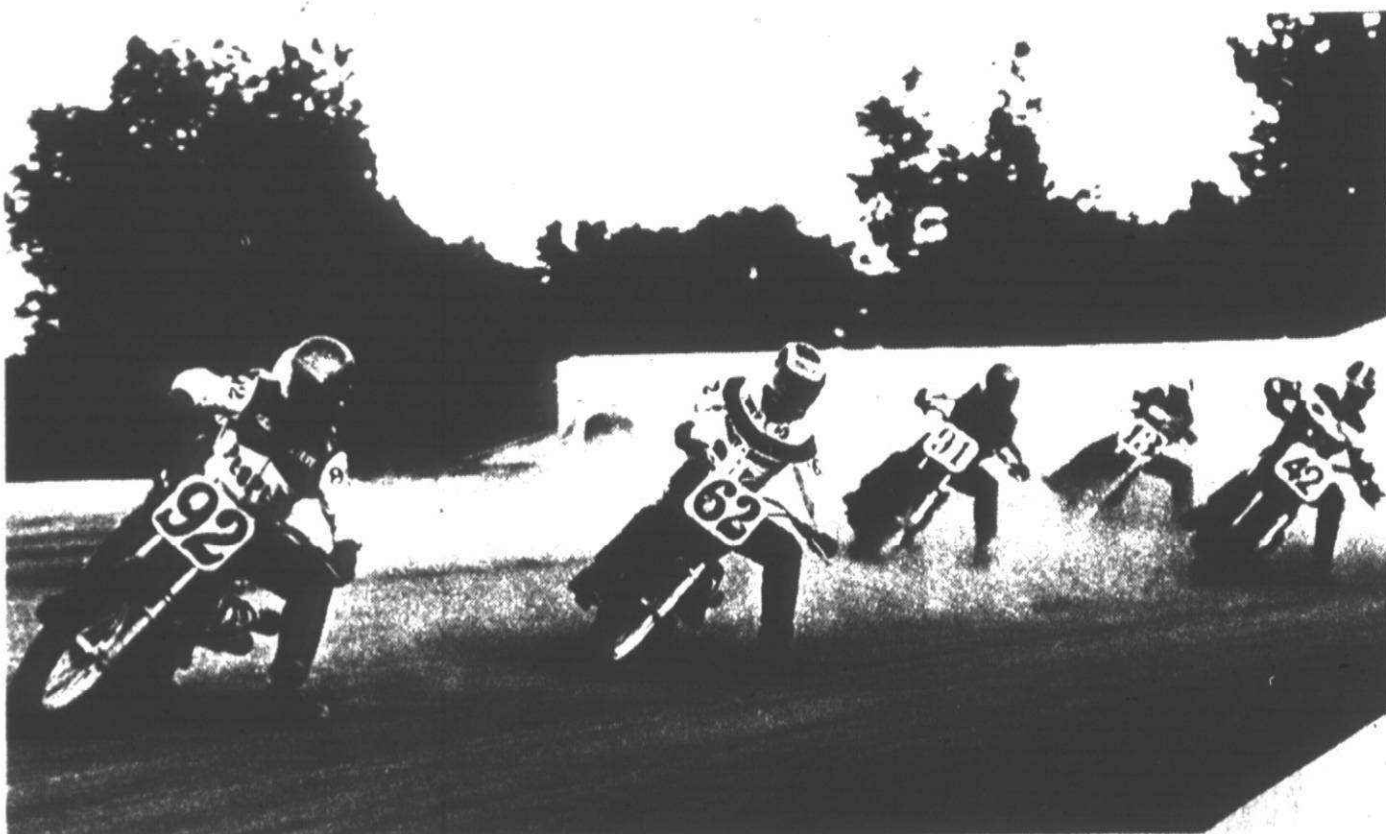

MNB added another run in the third on a walk to Snyder and singles by Pelly and Colone but the Yankees came storming back in their half of the inning to score four and pull within a run.

Jim McDonald and Dave Katz walked and Tom DePriest moved them both up with a sacrifice. Tom Pacion then doubled to score two. Frank Lane was then safe on an error by Rose and Pacion scored on the play. A single by Mike Griese then scored Lane. Two walks loaded the bases but Kolis bore down and struck out the next man to end the threat.

MNB added two runs in the sixth on singles by Beyrand and Ruvolo, a Yankee error and a sacrifice by Murphy.

The Yankees almost pulled it out in the seventh when they loaded the bases on an error and two walks and Greg McDonald singled with two outs to bring his team within a run. Kolis then got Steve Thomas to pop to Snyder to end the game, however.

The Yankees, National Blue Division winners MNB and National Red Division titlists Plymouth Elks all move into state-wide competition this week. The Yankees play in the Lincoln Park state tournament district while MNB plays at Flint and the Elks travel to Ypsilanti.

THE DUST WILL FLY when the American Motorcycle Association presents its final program of the year Saturday at Northville Downs. A full program of racing capped by a "Team Michigan" match race which pits the best Michigan drivers against the best drivers from the rest of the country is slated as practice begins at 4 p.m., time trials begin at 6 p.m. and racing starts at 7 p.m. Admission in advance is $4.50 with tickets on sale at Hudson's and area cycle shops. At the gate prices will be $5.50 for adults and $2.50 for children under 12.

7 state teams in town

Westland hosts Babe Ruth tourney

By BILL COLLINS

The competition will be keen when the best Babe Ruth teams from seven states converge for a week-long tourney this weekend at Westland's Jaycee Park.

Westland will host the Ohio Valley regional playoffs for the 13-14 age bracket league. Each state will be represented by one team with the exception of Michigan which will send both state champion Detroit West 7 and host Westland into the tournament.

The Westland team is comprised of All-Stars from various Babe Ruth teams in the Westland area. Besides the Detroit and Westland teams, there are squads from Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, West Virginia and Kentucky. The winner of the double-elimination tournament will advance to the Babe Ruth National Championships in Pine Bluff, Ark.

All players coming from out of state will be staying with families in Westland who have volunteered their homes for the week.

Westland Youth Athletic Association Director Ernie Johnson said approximately 80 families will be housing the boys, most of which have youngsters of their own in the city baseball program.

"The rules for housing these young men are a lot stricter than the regulations the boys might have at their own homes," Johnson said.

The families are required to provide transportation and shelter, along with the meals for the visiting players.

The tournament will run from Saturday, Aug. 2 through Thursday, Aug. 7. All contests will be played at the Jaycee Park located on Wildwood and Hunter, southeast of the Westland Shopping Center. Admission for each session is $1 for adults and 50 cents for those under 18. Each session lasts two games.

Tournament passes can be obtained from the Westland Department of Parks and Recreation for $5 and $2 for anyone under 18.

Games on Saturday and Sunday will be at noon, 3:30 p.m., 6 p.m., and 8:30 p.m. when host Westland takes on Illinois.

Weekday games on Monday and Tuesday will be at 6 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. A single contest is slated for 8:30 on Wednesday. The championship is scheduled for Thursday 7 p.m.

Top trotter arrives at DRC

Dick Buxton, a soft talking Ohioan with a hard hitting stable, is in serious pursuit of the Wolverine Raceway driving championship this year and Friday night he'll get right down to brass tacks by leading his ace, the redoubtable trotting mare Killbuck Mary.

A relative newcomer on the Michigan harness racing scene although he's been one of the country's premier reinsmen for the past 20 years, Buxton has just pulled in Killbuck Mary from campaigns in the New York and Chicago areas. She comes to Wolverine with some of the finest credentials in the history of the female trotting horse.

In her fifth racing season, Killbuck Mary has already posted earnings of nearly $350,000 and has pushed her victory total past the 50 mark. Just this past April she traveled to Italy and won an elimination leg of the prestigious $100,000 Lottery Prize held in Naples.

"She's one of the grand old gals of trotting," Buxton says fondly. "Just plop her down on any track anywhere and she's ready to go. She'd really rather race than eat oats."

Killbuck Mary, homebred and owned by Robert and Henry Critchfield of Wooster, O., was among the horses rescued from a fire which killed six of Buxton's top horses in February, 1973. After a thorough checkup and a short rest at Ohio State University she went on to post the greatest year of her career with 14 wins and $120,046 in earnings. The brown daughter of Hickory Pride has been nationally ranked ever since.

THE LURE for the likes of Killbuck Mary in the Detroit area is Wolverine's current series of $12,000 Invitational Trots on Friday nights. The rather plump purse has also attracted some pretty stiff competition for the queen of the Buxton stable.

Freshly arrived from a strong fourth place finish in the $90,000 Realization Trot at Roosevelt Raceway last Friday is the 4-year-old gelding Smug, Greg Wright, also out to add the Wolverine driving title to the one he won at Hazel Park, flew to New York to handle Smug in the Realization and the 29-year-old Canadian will be in charge of him again Friday at Wolverine.

Buxton, age 47, poses one of the biggest threats to Wright's domination of Michigan racing over the past three years so just the duel between Killbuck Mary and Smug should be interesting enough. But there are a couple of other tough challengers, too.

One is the 7-year-old son of the fine sire Porterhouse, aptly named Sirloin. Under the deft drive of Chris Boring, Sirloin whipped up a mile in 2:03 to win last Friday's Invitational headliner. Right behind him was Dick Hogan's Johnny Jumpup and he also will be ready to go Friday.

"Old Mary has only raced over the Wolverine mile once," Buxton reports. "It was her second start of the year in 1974 and I remember she beat a fine colt named Yellow Knife. I don't remember the time of the race, but I do know she raced her fastest, a 1:59.1, on the mile track at Hollywood Park that same year."

On Saturday night the new giant killer of Michigan racing will swing back into action in the $12,500 Invitational Pace. He's the 5-year-old pacing whiz Bench Mark, who has already won the two preceding events in the series in identical times of 1:58.4. Last Saturday Bench Mark trounced a much-heralded invader from the George Sholly stable, Boyden Hanover. Bench Mark is owned, trained and driven by Gerry Bookmyer of Clinton, Mich.

Kramer to speak

Ron Kramer, former All-American end at the University of Michigan and later all-pro with the Green Bay Packers and Detroit Lions, will make a guest celebrity appearance in Livonia Friday evening, Aug. 1.

Kramer will be on hand from 7 to 10 p.m. at the new Action Olds automobile dealership, Farmington and Plymouth Roads, to sign autographs and talk football with the fans. There also will be free refreshments and entertainment by the Red Garter Band.

NOBLES 8 Mile Supply

29450 W. 8 Mile at Middlebelt 474-4922 Mon.-Tues.-Wed. 8-7
Thurs.-Fri.-Sat. 8-8 Sunday 9-6

These are trying days along the tournament bowling front as the sponsors of the events prepare for the paying of the richest prize melons ever offered in the metropolitan Detroit area.

Since the close of the regular league season in May, these major tournaments have offered $14 million in prizes. And since most of the tournaments were conducted on handicap system the averages must be checked and rechecked to guard against any mistakes and to uncover the "sandbaggers" who often find their way into the events and falsify their averages.

Each year several cases of "sandbagging" are uncovered and the guilty ones suspended and forced to forfeit their share of the melon.

Because the funds reached new highs this year there is a fear that more "sandbaggers" than ever may be in the field.

It is a sad commentary on the game, but there are bowlers who wait all year for the big tournaments and make a business of competing in the handicap events.

IN SOME CASES it was found that the bowlers deliberately bowled on what are considered "tough scoring lanes" during the regular season to hold down their averages. This would give them a "break" for the handicap tournament season.

The fear is more prevalent this year because of the higher cash prizes. As an example, first place in the Champion of Champions tournament sponsored by the Bowling Proprietors association is $10,000-$2,000 per man. That's worth shooting for and that's why greater care than ever is being taken that averages are correct and that the "sandbaggers" will be caught.

This problem is not confined to the Detroit area. It is of deep concern throughout the country. According to the American Bowling Congress, more than $120 million has been offered in prizes during the current tournament season.

That's why there is greater concern than ever that the "sandbaggers" are uncovered.

The MANAGEMENT at Westland Bowl, concerned over the high prize funds for its top leagues next season, especially in the Junior House League which has a $5,000 top prize, points out that this is a 48 team league. The Senior House, where the payoff is $3,500 has only 32 teams. With more bowlers contributing each week, the prize fund is certain to be higher.

FOR 15 YEARS Betty Drake of Farmington has been trying, unsuccessfully, to roll a 200 game. Then the long drought ended during the past week at Bel-Aire Lanes where she posted games of 145, 206 and 194 for 545. Prior to big day her best game had been a 173.

In the Bel-Aire Men's league, Bob Sutherland rolled a high game of 243 and Paul Koenig had high series with a 606.

THE STRICKLANDS, Daisy and Dick, moved into fourth place in the Best Ball Doubles at Merri-Bowl with an 824 series.

SUE KUHN is the new champion of the Singlettes League at Westland Bowl. With a series of 211, 215 and 159—585, she beat out Judy Whalen, last year's champion, by two points under the Peterson point system.

THE DETROIT CHAPTER of the American Junior Bowling Congress is sponsoring youth bowling schools in four areas. The first is at Thunder-bowl Lanes in Allen Park, Aug. 2. The following day it is scheduled at Strike and Spare in Birmingham. On Aug. 9 it moves to Continental Lanes in Roseville and closes the following day at Cloverlanes in Livonia.

All junior are welcome at any of the sessions.

Physical exams

Physical examinations required of all Plymouth students—boys and girls alike—who plan to participate in organized sports during the coming school year will be available through the athletic department Aug. 11 and 12.

This applies to junior high school athletes as well as those at the high school level.

Athletic Director John Sandmann said a $2 fee will be charged those availing themselves of this opportunity. Boys are to report at 5 p.m., Monday, Aug. 11, to the commons area of Plymouth Salem High School, and girls at 5 p.m., Tuesday, Aug. 12 at the same location.

Those who may have questions regarding procedures are asked to call Paul Cummings in the athletic department at the high school.

Redford, Westland reach Adray finals

"Dependable" Redford Adray and upstart Westland Burger King advanced to Wednesday's finals in the Livonia Adray League last weekend.

Redford, which has held patent rights on the championship ever since the Adray baseball has been played in this area, went into that game a solid favorite with losses in the two-game knockout.

Burger King won a pair of games Sunday to advance to the finals from the loser's bracket with a 2-1 record.

Oddly enough, the two teams started action against each other Friday with Redford emerging an 8-3 victor.

Each team went with its top pitcher in that game and Redford's Kevin Bara responded with a typically fine performance, allowing just four hits, striking out 10 and walking one to raise his record to 8-2.

Westland's ace, Rolland Morenci, took the loss as he allowed the floodgates to open in the sixth when Redford scored six times to win it.

Bill Redwood came on in that inning and was ineffective in relief.

Trailing 3-2 at the time, Mike Kalil initiated the rally for Redford in the sixth with a ground rule double to center. Bara followed with an RBI single tying the game. George Willard was safe on an error to the Burger King catcher and John Roy finished Morenci with a run-scoring base hit.

Redwood came on to strike out Mark Yourchock and get Dan Burke on a fielder's choice. But Gary D'Ascenzo was safe on another error and Bob Wasilewski loaded the bases on an infield single.

Burke then scored on a wild pitch and John Broder brought home D'Ascenzo with a single to make it 8-3.

Redford took an early lead in the bottom of the first when John Roy and Dan Burke singled and scored on two Westland errors.

Burger King scored three times in its fourth to take a one-run lead.

The big blow in that rally was Ken Robinson's three-run homer to right-center. After that hit, Bara bore down and allowed only one other runner in the game, that with two out in the Westland seventh.

REDFORD — ROYAL OAK
Redford met Royal Oak in the winner's bracket of the playoffs Sunday and subsequently sent Royal Oak to the loser's end, 6-4.

Royal Oak, which won the regular season title with a 19-4-1 record, was again the victim of Bara who took the victory in relief of starter John Bollin and reliever Ray Ivy.

But it was as much Bara's bat as his arm that won the game as Redford again staged a sixth inning comeback to remain unbeaten.

Trailing 4-3 going into the bottom of that inning, Bara slammed a three-run home run for the final margin. The shot to rightfield was never in doubt.

In all Bara went four-for-four for the day and drove in four runs. He and Bob Wasilewski each had RBI singles in the first to initiate the scoring and Redford's other run, which came in the fourth, was scored without the benefit of a hit as a walk and two Royal Oak errors scored John Broder.

Royal Oak scored two runs in both the fourth and fifth inning and put the tying run on first in the seventh when Bob Hamilton singled and Paul Harris walked.

But Bara bore down and got Paul Facca to ground out to first baseman Mark Yourchock unassisted to end the game.

WESTLAND — LIVONIA GRIFFIN

Ken Robinson singled sharply to right to score Jojo Scarpace from third in the seventh inning and give Westland Burger King a 3-2 victory over Livonia Griffin, eliminating the Livonia team.

The victory was the first of two Sunday for Westland which climbed into the Adray finals against Redford.

Scarpace had opened the seventh with a single and Mark Ostricke and Bob Ganzak each hit sacrifices to move him to third and set up Robinson's two-out winner.

Westland had opened the scoring in the second on singles by Jeff Hodgkins and Ron Vanderlinden and a Livonia error.

But Griffin came back with two in the third on Warren Wallis' single, a triple by B.J. Lajoie and a double by Mark Wilson.

Robinson tied the game for Westland in the fifth when he doubled to score Ganzak.

WESTLAND — ROYAL OAK
Westland Burger King put together all four of its hits in the second inning to score five runs and held on to upset Royal Oak 5-2.

Ron Vanderlinden started the rally with one out when he was safe on an error. Steve Hodgkins then sacrificed Vanderlinden to second and Gary Beyrand and Randy Whitehouse each had infield singles, loading the bases. Jeff Hodgkins then smacked a three-run double and Jojo Scarpace added a triple to drive in Hodgkins. Scarpace then scored on an errant throw.

Mike Cullen drove in both Royal Oak runs in the fifth with a single but Royal Oak could not score again and lost despite outhitting the Westland club 7-4.

Business tax changes proposed

Livonia and Plymouth businessmen were told that a proposed "single business tax" to be voted on by the State Senate this week would improve Michigan's economy and create new jobs.

Discussing the advantages of the bill and answering questions was Dr.

Jerry Miller, Gov. William Milliken's budget director.

Miller said the main advantages of the bill would be to improve the state's economy, simplify the previous system in which businessmen had to complete eight state tax forms, and avoid future tax-rate increases.

The budget director, brought to the Livonia Rotary Club meeting by State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth), said while the bill is intended to trade off one tax for another, some businesses will be paying more in state taxes under the bill.

more job-creating basic industry to this state.

"Under the present tax structure, we penalize the efficient firm with a high corporate income tax rate.

"WE PENALIZE others with taxes on net worth (through the corporate franchise fee) and on inventories, the only major industrial state to do so.

"The inequities created in our business system by these tax mechanisms not only hamper our efforts to attract new business but threaten the existence of our current businesses as we know them."

Miller said the proposed tax has "many virtues and much hope for the economic future of the state."

He added that the "alternatives promise nothing but a guaranteed continuation of an undesirable status quo at best—and actually would represent a step backwards."

The bill would continue to raise an estimated $800 million a year in state revenues and represents only a "trade-off" in income from the previous tax system.

HE STRESSED that the bill helps small businesses with high percentage of labor costs but low profits.

Basic industries would pay the same total in state taxes while some supportive businesses would pay "slightly more" but would benefit from improvements in the state's economic status.

Pursell said while the bill has "several pluses and some minuses, I have some mixed emotions about it."

But the senator, whose district includes Plymouth, Livonia and Redford Township, said he hopes the bill will "move Michigan ahead and create new jobs."

THOSE FACING "a little more in taxes" are those businesses which have most of their costs in personnel, not equipment or products.

Miller said the Michigan Bar Association and the Michigan Chamber of Commerce have endorsed the bill which was approved by the House of Representatives after five major changes.

The director said the bill is designed to attract new business to the state and encourage existing businesses to expand.

The bill would simplify the existing problem for businessmen who are required to complete eight major tax forms. The new plan would have them complete one tax return annually and make four quarterly reports.

Miller said the bill is written to avoid future corporation tax rate increases in the future—pointing out that there have been three increases since the tax was created in 1967.

He said that Michigan "has long had an image as a high business tax state—an image that has reflected unfavorably upon our efforts to attract

O & E promotes 3 ad men

Art Shafer, marketing director of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, has announced three promotions within the retail advertising department.

John Bohas, advertising supervisor of the Birmingham office, is now assistant retail manager. Ken Manko, Wayne County advertising supervisor, has been named special services manager. Barry Melamed, advertising supervisor of the Southfield office, has been named regional sales manager.

Bohas, a 1970 graduate of Ferris State College, has been with the newspaper group since 1971, serving the Birmingham and Troy areas as a salesman and most recently as advertising supervisor. He resides in Troy with his wife and two children.

Manko, a 1971 graduate of Wayne State University, joined The Eccentric Newspapers in fall 1971 as a salesman and served the Southfield community exclusively. More recently he was Wayne County sales supervisor for the merged Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. He and his wife live in Farmington Hills.

Barry Melamed, formerly with J. W. Thompson Advertising Agency and The Oakland Press, joined The Eccentric Newspapers in 1972 as a retail salesman. He served as Southfield advertising supervisor until his recent appointment. He was graduated from Wayne State University in 1971, and lives in Southfield.

These newly created positions have come as a result of the tremendous growth due to the merger of The Observer Newspapers, Inc. and The Eccentric Newspapers, according to Shafer. These men, all of whom will report to Tom Reynolds, retail advertising manager, will have specific responsibilities within the retail department.

Religious broadcast debate stirs local interest

By MARGARET MILLER

A petition currently before the Federal Communications Commission is drawing a large amount of mail from this area, although understanding as to its intent and effect seems hazy.

The petition involves freezing of licenses to radio and television stations which broadcast religious program. FCC spokesmen have indicated a ruling should be made by the end of August.

A flood of letters protesting Petition 2493 indicates widespread fear that radio church services will be removed from the lives of persons elderly, ill or otherwise homebound.

Worry about the banning of prayer in public places also is part of the reaction to the petition.

ALTHOUGH the petition was filed about a year ago by Californians Lorenzo W. Milam and Jeremy Landsman, the petition drive has been labeled a "Stop Madalyn M. O'Hair" campaign.

It was the action of Mrs. O'Hair, a self-proclaimed atheist, which several years ago brought about a U.S. Supreme Court decision banning prayer in public schools.

Whether the O'Hair name or the idea has been the rallying point, the interest in this area in preventing such broadcasting restrictions seems evident.

DURING THE LAST month, parishioners of St. Richard and St. Theodore Catholic churches in Westland received with their Sunday bulletins copies of letters to be mailed to the federal commission.

One of these states: "I personally appreciate and wholeheartedly support the decision of the astronauts to read the Bible from their space craft as they orbited the moon, and I further support the right of any human being to express his faith in God and the Bible without fear of censure."

The other mentions "support in favor of allowing religious broadcasting on radio and television in direct opposition to Petition 2493."

The Westland churches were asked by parishioners to reprint the petitions that had appeared in the Tri-County News, a weekly newspaper in Fenton, Mich.

That publication had received them from a local minister, who had received them from a relative in the south part of the country.

LUCY BRABON, a writer for the Tri-County News, said her paper was acting as a clearing-house for the letters and petitions, and she indicated they are arriving from all over the country at the rate of about 2,000 a day.

"I've sent well over 25,000 on to the FCC," she said.

"This is something that people really are worried about," she said. "They are afraid that a move banning public prayer will be taken without their realizing it."

"Many feel the ban on prayer in school caught them unaware and they don't want that to happen again."

ONE LIVONIA church, Newburg United Methodist, included in a recent bulletin a suggestion that members interested in the question address letters to the FCC in Washington and ask the commission to "consider what this would do to the shut-ins, the aged, the bed-ridden people who depend on such service."

The church bulletin added:

Religion Update

Petitioners described as pranksters

By LESTER KINSOLVING

Sixty-five thousand furious letters currently on file with the Federal Communications Commission attest to the latest triumph of a thoroughly irrepressible and charming young prankster named Lorenzo W. Milam.

Milam and a kindred spirit named Jeremy Landsman have for the past decade been electrifying the air waves of Missouri and Pacific Coast counterculture radio stations with programming which, if one were to wallow in understatement, might be described as wildly avant garde.

Their broadcasting of offbeat and outrage has been implemented with numerous promotional activities.

In Washington State, for example, they were deeply involved in the campaign of Richard Greene for State Land Commissioner—on a platform of giving the eastern part of the state to

Idaho ("because it has nothing but rattlesnakes and nitwits") and requiring that a new bridge for Puget Sound be a covered bridge ("frequency of rain"). (Greene, who moved to Hawaii before the election, nonetheless attracted 20 per cent of the vote.)

MILAM, AS A columnist for the Seattle Post Intelligencer, wrote one column critical of the Papal position on abortion which so enraged Seattle's Archbishop Thomas Connolly that he issued a pastoral letter calling for a boycott of the newspaper and all its advertisers.

He said Milam was responsible for an "attack" he described as "vicious, insulting, scurrilous, insane, venomous, hate-filled, morbid, irresponsible, grossly exaggerated, conscienceless, lethal, flagrant, spiteful." (The boycott failed.)

LAST FALL, Milam and Landsman

"Our airwaves are for the expression of various opinions and should be free for meeting the needs of all individuals. All opposed to such broadcasting may cast their votes of censure by turning off their sets, rather than by depriving others of their freedom."

Several letters received for publication in this newspaper have indicated a like opinion.

One reader, indicating she and her husband had received the mimeographed petition through the mail, said it worried them considerably because "we are retirees and Sunday morning on TV is our church, as it is with many of our elderly friends."

A SUGGESTION that the petition itself was the latest in a series of political hoaxes perpetrated by Milam and Landsman comes from the Rev. Lester Kinsolving, religion writer whose columns are carried in this newspaper.

2 churches join for VBS

Two Livonia churches of different Lutheran denominations will cooperate in their first joint vacation Bible school the week of Aug. 4 to 8.

Sponsors of the sessions from 9 a.m. to 12 noon each day are All Saints Church of the Missouri Synod and Timothy, an American Lutheran Church congregation.

Classes will be held in both All Saints, 8850 Newburgh, and Timothy, 8820 Wayne, and teachers from both churches will supervise activities at both locations.

CHURCH BULLETIN

Picture board helps acquaint church members

Members of the Lutheran Church of the Risen Christ in Plymouth don't have to search blank memories when they can't recall the name of the person sitting in the next pew at morning services.

They make a quick trip to the big bulletin board in the foyer and find the picture and elusive name of the fellow worshiper in question.

By glancing at the rows of pictures of Risen Christ families, they also find they fit names and faces much more readily and have less need for emergency trips to the big board.

THE REV. KENNETH ZIELKE, pastor, says the board is helping the congregation live up to the slogan above the photographs: "There are no strangers here—only friends we haven't met."

The idea for the pictorial register in church was developed a few years ago, the pastor said.

"We had been bombarded by commercial photographers who wanted to put pictures like this into a book. 'But many churches do,' he added. 'But we like this system better.'"

BOB HUTH, Risen Christ member and a photographer, takes the family pictures as new members come into church.

Then photos go right up, so the board constantly reflects the current congregation.

"That's important," Rev. Zielke said, "in a community where there are many new residents due to job transfers."

HOLY TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH, 39020 Five Mile, Livonia, will be the setting for the ordination Sunday, Aug. 3, of Timothy L. Baldinger, the first young man from the congregation to enter the Lutheran ministry.

Rev. Baldinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Baldinger of Clarita Avenue, Livonia, will be ordained by the Rev. Fred W. Balke, and following the 3 p.m. service he and his wife, Linda Sue, will be honored at a reception by Holy Trinity members.

The new pastor is a lifelong member of the church and a graduate of Lutheran High School West, the University of Michigan and Concordia Theological Seminary at Springfield, Ill.

Following ordination he will serve as pastor of Faith Lutheran Church at Sweetwater, Texas.

ST. PETER EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN CHURCH, 1343 Penniman, Plymouth, will conduct a vacation Bible school with the theme "My Christian Faith and Life," beginning Aug. 4. The program will run until Aug. 15, Monday through Friday from 9 to 11:45 a.m.

Bible study and recreational and craft projects will be offered for participants aged four to 14. There is no charge, but a free will offering will be accepted to defray the cost of materials used. Refreshments will be served each day.

WARD UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, 17000 Farmington Road, Livonia, will hear a report on mission work in Korea from the Rev. W. Ransom Rice Jr., during its 7 p.m. vesper service Sunday, Aug. 3.

Rev. Rice and his wife have been working in Seoul for nine years. They plan to return in August.

CYO camp has openings

There's fun in the sun these days at the Catholic Youth Organization camps on the shores of Lake Huron, and there's still time for youngsters to sign up for the month of August.

Swimming, hiking, fishing, exploring, sleeping out, cookouts, marshmallow roasts and sing-alongs are some of the things the campers are doing this summer.

The CYO has openings for the period from Aug. 9 through Aug. 23 at the boys camp and the girls camp. Youths from seven (must be eight by Dec. 31) to 16 can attend the boys camp. The girls camp has the same minimum age but the maximum is to 15 years of age.

The fee for the 14-day period is $113 for a regular camper, $123 for the special pioneer unit.

For further information call the CYO Camps, 305 Michigan Avenue, Detroit.

'Now Reality' in 2 churches

"Now Reality," a choral group of college students from southern California, will visit two local churches during the coming week.

The group led by Roy Anthony Jr., minister of music at Christian Life College in Long Beach, will visit the Lions, clowns and highwire artists will appear Aug. 4-9 in Westland Shopping Center's annual summer circus.

Circus in Westland

Three shows will be featured daily at 11 a.m., 2 and 7 p.m. Performances are free in the colorful circus tent in parking lot No. 3 at the corner of Warren and Wayne roads in Westland.

The circus acts, rounded up by ringmaster Bob Atterbury, include the Corona Brothers, a high-wire troupe, and Liliana and Stevana, trapeze artists working 40 feet off the ground.

For youngsters, Freddie Lavine and his clowns friends will entertain. Other circus attractions include Gary Alan's African lions, and an elephant trained by Walton King of Richmond.

During circus days, balloons will be sold as part of a summer fundraising effort at shopping center across the nation for the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA). At each performance, a symbolic balloon will be set free, and the audience will be asked to help "set free" youngsters who are suffering from MD. Net proceeds from the balloon sale will go to MD.

Concerto winner

CLARK E. SUTTLE, of 29844 W. Chicago, Livonia, has won the concerto competition at Interlochen National Music Camp for the third time in three years. Suttle, 22, was one of 136 entrants. He attends the University of Michigan, and is assistant conductor of the University Orchestra. A bass player, Suttle played the Bottesini concerto No. 1 in F-sharp minor.

Area students play workshop finale

Workshop in the Woods will close its fifth season with a concert Aug. 8 at 8:30 p.m. in Duns Scotus College, Nine Mile and Evergreen roads, Southfield. Students from Livonia and Redford Township are among the 50 musicians participating in the workshop. Detroit Symphony Orchestra faculty members will join students from throughout the greater Detroit area in the second of two chamber music concerts presented this season.

Area musicians are Susan Charney and Roseanne Kobylarz, both of Livonia, and Gary Syroid of Redford Township.

Works by Bach, Telemann, Haydn, Mozart, Reicha, Barber, Nielsen and others will be performed in the chapel of Duns Scotus. Sponsors of the seven-week program are the Southfield Arts Council, City of Southfield Department of Parks and Recreation, and the Michigan Council for the Arts. Duns Scotus is the host.

During the session, workshop students have played for shut-ins at hospitals and convalescent homes. "It has been fine experience for the young musicians and good for the spirits of performers and their audience alike," said Ray Benner, workshop director.

The workshop finale will be dedicated to the 25th anniversary of Rudolf Serkin's Malboro Chamber Music Festival. Benner attended the festival for 11 summers. Joining the Detroit Symphony in 1962, Benner has founded Workshop in the Woods, Bach for a Buck, the Cranbrook Festival and the Fairlane Music Guild—all offsprings of his Malboro experience.

Workshop in the Woods is the affiliate of Bach for a Buck concerts presented during the Christmas Holidays at Duns Scotus. Channel 56 taped a documentary of that event last year which was presented in March. It will be shown again in the coming months. The documentary raised more money for Channel 56 than any other local presentation.

Admission to the Aug. 8 concert is $1 donation to the workshop scholarship fund.

Medieval fair in Ann Arbor

The sixth annual Ann Arbor Medieval Festival will be held the first two weekends in August in Ann Arbor parks and on the lawn of the University of Michigan Music School.

Mimes, jugglers, dancers and a variety of musical performances and plays will be presented Aug. 2 at 11 a.m. in West Park and at 3 p.m. in Burns Park. On Aug. 3 shows will begin at 11 a.m. on the lawn of the park and continues at 3 p.m. in the arboretum.

An art fair is planned for Sunday, Aug. 10, with demonstrations of medieval crafts. Refreshments also will be available.

Music will be provided by the U-M School of Music Collegium Musicum, directed by Thomas Taylor. The group will perform a 13th century musical drama "The Play of Robin and Marion by Adam De La Halle, along with a variety of medieval music.

BLIND— BUT NOT BLINDED

New life dimension comes in a little box

By MARGARET MILLER

When you're on your own, rearing a small daughter, employed in a demanding, professional job—and blind—you find life's complications can include transportation, interior decoration and privacy.

At least that's how Karen Morrison of Livonia "sees" her situation.

And while she can't do much about the fact that she will never learn to drive, and she can't pick out the right shade of pink towels for her apartment bathroom, she now has a remarkable new piece of equipment that gives a kind of privacy she never has known.

It's called an Optacon, and Ms. Morrison, a divorced mother, is buying it with the aid of two Livonia Lions clubs.

With it, she can carry out her work as a counselor for Family Services of Detroit and Wayne County without the help of a reader. And she can sit down and read a storybook to Debbie, her four-year-old daughter.

THE OPTACON, manufactured by Telesensory Systems, Inc., after 10 years' research at Stamford University, enables Ms. Morrison to read by photographing type and transmitting the photos as tactile signals.

It consists of a box roughly the size of a tape recorder and a camera unit about as big as a pocket knife.

"The blind person," says the literature describing the device, "holds the little camera in his right hand and moves it along a line of print.

"The camera contains two tiny lamps plus photo-transistors that register the intensity of the light. These transistors then produce signals that are converted by the Optacon into a pattern of vibrating reeds."

THESE REEDS are electrical impulses like tiny pinprick shocks that Ms. Morrison, putting her left hand into the Optacon box, can feel on her forefinger.

Because she has been blind all her life, her sense of touch is extremely well developed, so she can distinguish the outlines of different letters as she works her way across a printed line.

"You can understand how an O feels on the fingertip," she said, "by thinking of the top of a volcano exploding." Starting with that basic shape, she is able to identify the rest of the alphabet and read a page a letter at a time.

The feat seems all the more remarkable when you consider that Karen Morrison had to learn the shape of all the letters before she could begin to use the Optacon. The only alphabet she had known before is the Braille alphabet.

"IT'S VERY SLOW at first," she said, "but it will get faster. Right now, I'm reading about 30 words a minute. I should be able to get up to 80 or 90."

She can read most forms of block type, but script is more difficult. Large letters used in headlines or letterheads are almost impossible, because the camera isn't set up to photograph anything that big.

"At work," Ms. Morrison said, "I have to read the contents of the brochures I receive and then kind of guess where they came from."

She added, though, that the sense of privacy the Optacon has given her is exhilarating.

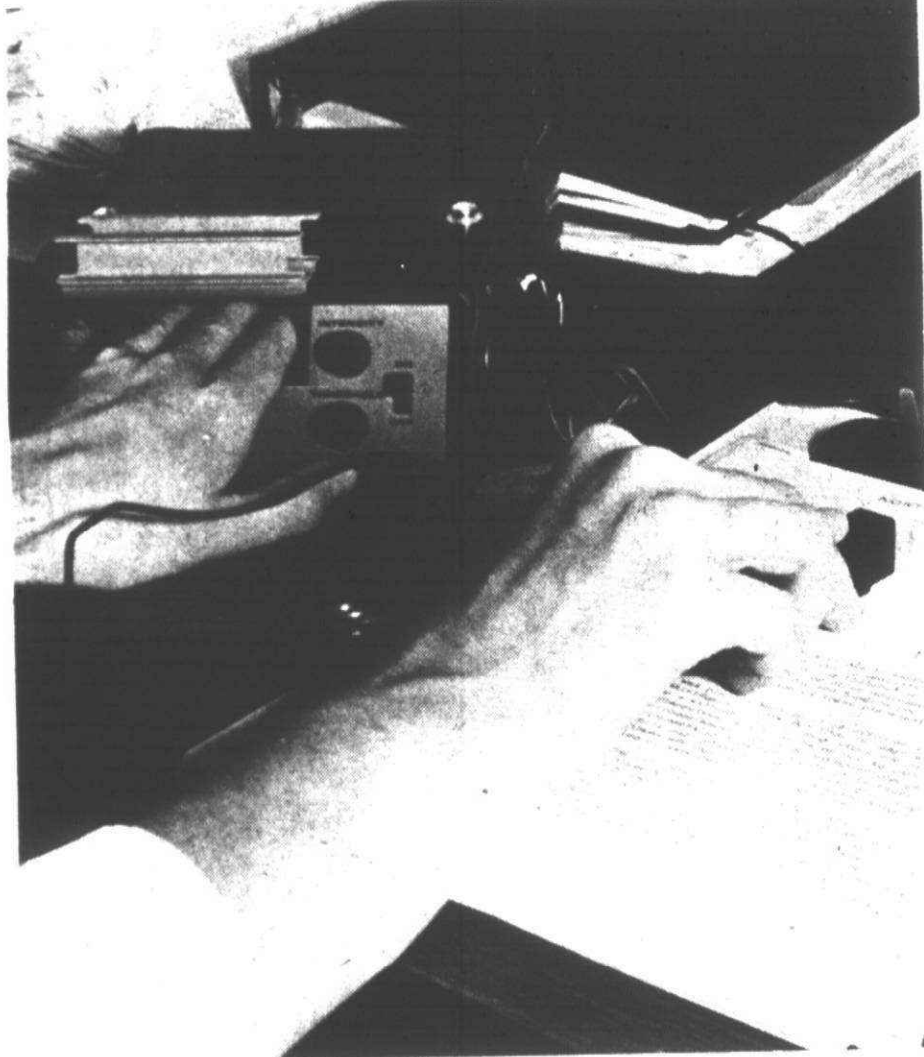

"My mother and I were talking about how it's the first time she's been able to write me a letter that I can read without someone else listening in," she said.

MS. MORRISON first heard about the Optacon a year ago, but decided its $3,450 price was prohibitive.

Then she learned of an Optacon Fund, recently set up, that would give a loan for all but $500 of the purchase price, and two local units of the Lions International helped with that.

KAREN MORRISON can read to her daughter, Debbie, with the aid of an Optacon. Her leader dog, Roxie, seems to be enjoying the story too. (Staff photos by Art Emanuel)

THE OPTACON works by means of tiny cameras in the box in the right hand and electrical signals transmitted to the fingertip of the left hand, placed in the box.

She had to be tested first for sense of feeling and ability to track the electrical sensations. Then, after it was determined that she was a good candidate for Optacon use, the Michigan Department of Blind Services paid $1,500 for several weeks of training she needed.

USE OF THE Optacon is just the latest epoch in a life that has been full of acceptance of blindness and adjustment to its limitations.

Ms. Morrison attended the Michigan School for the Blind and graduated from Albion College in 1963. She was married about that time, and then went to the University of Michigan for a master's degree in social work. After working for a time for the Detroit League for the Handicapped, she joined Family Service, 16755 Middle Belt, Livonia.

Daughter Debbie was born in 1971, and Ms. Morrison for a time set up a private marriage counseling service in Plymouth, her home at that time.

"Then I realized my own marriage was falling apart and I needed the support of a regular job, so I went back to Family Service," she said. Her divorce was granted in 1973.

KAREN HANDLES all the housework in the Livonia apartment where she and Debbie live now—"probably I overclean, and the only trouble I have is with spots on the wall"—and she found little difficulty in caring for a small baby.

"Of course, the feeding was pretty messy," she said.

But when Debbie became mobile, things were a bit rougher, her mother said, and she wished she had stayed in the Plymouth home with the fenced yard.

Now she describes her four-year-old daughter as "very responsible."

"She lets me know where she is and comes when I call if she's out playing," Ms. Morrison said. "She respects my blindness."

AND THIS MOTHER respects her daughter's childhood.

She tries to keep things in the apartment more or less in the same place and tries to get Debbie to pick up multi-piece toys when she is through with them, but she doesn't make a fetish of neatness.

"There are enough things in her life that are different because I am blind," she said, "so I don't want to make a big deal of other things."

Recently she went to considerable effort to get Debbie a pair of kittens, Pixie and Dixie, to join the menage that also includes Karen's seeing eye dog, Roxie.

The kittens do get underfoot a bit, but they manage, and Karen doesn't mind.

"Probably guinea pigs or gerbils would have been easier," she said, "but kittens can defend themselves against the dog and a lot of handling by a small child. Besides, what good is a pet you can't pick up and play with?"

GETTING AROUND hasn't been easy for Ms. Morrison since Debbie passed the stage where she could be carried on her back. Roxie, her third dog, is trained only to care for one person, so she and Debbie can't go out together on a neighborhood shopping trip, for instance.

So she hires drivers to take her to work and Debbie to nursery school and on necessary errands. "It's terribly expensive," she said, "but probably no more so than if I owned a luxury car."

The matter of interior decoration, however, continues to baffle this homemaker who never has seen a color or a furniture shape.

"People ask why I worry," she said, "but I like those who visit to be to be comfortable in my home surroundings, not offended by something garish."

"The thing I try to do is depend on the judgment of someone whose taste I consider like mine."

A GED certificate marks a new milestone

By MARGARET MILLER

"I want to work with blind people," says Mrs. Faith Meadows of Westland.

"They hear so much about what they can't do that sometimes they need a bit of a push. But once blind people get the incentive, there's nothing they cannot do."

Mrs. Meadows knows what she's talking about. She's been blind since 1961 and, with the aid of a few helping hands, she's on her way to a career in counseling.

One milestone she has just completed. Orally, because it is not available in Braille, she passed the General Education Development test, the course that can substitute for a high school diploma for those who did not graduate.

With her GED behind her, Mrs. Meadows now can apply for admission to the University of Michigan-Dearborn to continue the studies she has begun at Schoolcraft College.

That requirement was all that was holding up her request for admission. With about 12 credit hours to go toward an associate degree at Schoolcraft she is carrying a 3.5 honor point average.

THE GED HURDLE was described as a stiff one by Mrs. Meadows. She was quick to list among the "many people who have helped me" her teacher, Mrs. Gloria Mauthe of Livonia, and Wayne Paul, program director for academic and vocational education for adults in the Livonia School District.

"It was a lot tougher than a lot of my Schoolcraft courses," she said. "I had to work hard."

But Mrs. Mauthe said her student came through beautifully, showing "a great deal of perseverance, determination and especially intellectual capacity."

In the intensive course, 60 hours of classroom work are held over a three-week period. There were three other students in this particular class, the first in the school district's new program aimed at fitting GED offerings to the needs of individuals.

Mrs. Mauthe geared the lectures to the blind student, and Mrs. Meadows took them down with her tape recorder. When she put a geometry problem on the blackboard for her sighted students, she would take Mrs. Meadows' hand and trace its lines with the eraser end of a pencil.

In giving the oral examination, she would again trace the problem, "and she would show me how to proceed."

FAITH MEADOWS lost her sight 14 years ago when an assault while coming home from work in Detroit, where she was then living, left her with retinal detachment.

When she first went to Detroit's rehabilitation center for the handicapped, she remembers, "It certainly wasn't with any idea of going to school—I guess my main idea was to get out of the house for a while."

But a battery of tests helped her understand her capabilities, and she then decided to go to Rochester for a Leader-Dog.

That move was less than successful. "That dog was a beautiful traveler,"

Mrs. Meadows said, "but we couldn't housebreak her."

She now finds that for her a white cane is most useful in getting around her neighborhood and the Schoolcraft campus.

IT WAS AFTER moving to Westland in 1964 that she decided to take courses at Schoolcraft, and she's moved close to graduation at a steady clip.

Next term she'll be taking courses in English, anthropology and child psychology.

Mrs. Meadows' two marriages both have ended in divorce, and she now shares her Westland home with sons Randy, 19, a graduate of Churchill High, student at Chrysler Motors Technical School and frequent chauffeur for his mother, and Freddie, 12, a student at Ford Junior High School.

She doesn't consider her plans to get a BA and then an MA in guidance and counseling extraordinarily ambitious.

"Blind people," she said, "don't have to sit back and let others do everything. No more."

County offers free immunization

Are your children fully immunized and protected from dangerous childhood diseases?

To help parents obtain free immunization for their children before they start school, the Wayne County Health Department is sponsoring two free clinics in the area early in August.

The new Wayne County Health Clinic on Sheldon between Five and Six Mile roads will be the location of one clinic on Tuesday, Aug. 5 from 1-4 p.m.

A second clinic will be held Wednesday, Aug. 6, in St. Paul United Presbyterian Church, 27475 Five Mile, Livonia. To take place from 12:30-3 p.m., it will be co-sponsored by the Western Suburban Junior Woman's Club.

This organization sponsors the clinic at the same time and location on the first Wednesday of each month. It requests that appointments be made for immunization. Call 274-2800, extension 6891.

Both clinics will immunize children from two months to 17 years of age. Children will receive protection from polio, measles, rubella, mumps, diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough) and tetanus.

TB skin tests will be available also. Every kindergartener entering school this fall must have proof that he has been immunized against these childhood diseases.

Children must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. Parents are requested to bring previous immunization records if available.

Collection begins for fall book sale

The Farmington branch of the American Association of University Women is starting to collect books for its 22nd annual used book sale to be held at the Livonia Mall Sept. 25 to 28. Books of all kinds, from paperbacks to textbooks and encyclopedias are needed for the sale.

Proceeds from the book sale will be used to further the Association Fellowship Fund for talented and qualified students, the Farmington library and for local scholarships.

This year the AAUW will provide tuition scholarships at Oakland University for mature students with family responsibilities who have had interruptions in their education for a baccalaureate degree.

The co-chairpersons for the sale are Nancy Davis of Farmington and Doris Gaston of Southfield. Scheduling will be handled by Lucille Rogers of Farmington and Betty Ritchie of Northville. Set-up of the sale will be supervised by Peg Wright of Farmington and Tina Seybold of Northville.

Publicity will be done by Betty Huffman and Louise Sherwin, both of Southfield. Mary Lou White of Farmington will handle the hospitality and clean-up will be supervised by Stephanie Bury of Detroit.

Pat Thompson of Farmington is in charge of book pickup.

Books may be taken to the Farmington Hills branch library, 32737 West Twelve Mile, or dropped in designated barrels at the Wrigley grocery store at 13 Mile and Orchard Lake, or the A&P store, 23300 Farmington Road.
